Reds Shell Pullout Center 1 American Killed, 7 Hurt

SAIGON (AP) — An enemy rocket fired into a 9th Division processing center killed one American soldier and wounded seven just three days before they were scheduled to go home, the U.S. Command said today.

The command said the Soviet-built 107mm rocket exploded Thursday afternoon near the center at Dong Tam.

The rocket killed two Americans and wounded 21. Eight of these were members of the 4th Battalion, 47th Infantry, which is scheduled to fly to the United States Sunday.

It will be the second 800-man battalion of the 9th Division to leave under President Nixon's order to cut U.S. troop strength by 25,000 men by the end of August.

At about the same time, the 9th Marine Regimental Landing Team will begin moving from near the demilitarized zone to Quang Tri in central Vietnam before boarding ships for Okinawa.

However, the 9th Marines may be delayed by a typhoon nearing the coast.

The withdrawals that have been completed and are scheduled this weekend involve 10,000 men. The U.S. Command said under its present timetable, the August withdrawal deadline may be beaten by several weeks.

Although a lull continued in ground fighting, headquarters reports indicated some increase in small scale skirmishes and shelling across South Vietnam.

The most dramatic firefight reported resulted in the liberation of a badly wounded American soldier who had been missing and evidently held captive by enemy forces for two months.

An enemy defector reported the location of the wounded man, identified as Snee, 4, Larry D. Aiken of Jamaica, N.Y., and a South Vietnamese reconnaissance sance force went by helicopter into the jungle area about 50 miles southwest of Da Nang. In a sharp firefight, six North Vietnamese were killed and two captured. Then the wounded

American was taken by helicopter to a field hospital. U.S. officers said the soldier was not wounded in the firefight but was unable to tell exactly how old his wound was.

Fear Sailor Dead; Vessel Was 4th Found Abandoned

LONDON (AP) — British round-the-world yachtsman Donald Crowhurst was given up for lost today. But the mystery surrounding his disappearance deepened with the disclosure that his vessel was the fourth found apparently abandoned in the same area within 12 days.

U.S. Air Force planes searched all day Friday for the 36-year-old sailor whose deserted three-hulled yacht Teignmouth Electron was found Thursday, 700 miles west of the Azores.

Search headquarters then announced, "The search has been abandoned. . . . As long as it is considered a life can be saved, every effort is made. Once it is thought no longer reasonable a person can be alive, as in this case, then resources are withdrawn."

The London Sunday Times, which sponsored the around-the-world race that Crowhurst had been favored to win, announced that the $12,000 prize for the fastest voyage would go to Crowhurst's wife Clare. A spokesman said the trimaran had crossed the line of its outward journey and thus had completed its circumnavigation of the globe. Crowhurst had been at sea 262 days.

Shortly before the search for Crowhurst was abandoned, Lloyd's Shipping Exchange in London disclosed that since June 30 three other boats have been found unmanned in the same area where Crowhurst's boat was found.

The Vagabond, a 20-foot fiberglass boat belonging to Peter Wallin of Sweden—another lone globe-circling sailor—was found Sunday by the Swedish ship Golar Frost. A boarding party discovered everything on board undisturbed but no sign of Wallin. The last entry in the boat's log was July 2.

On Tuesday, the British tanker Helios sighted the upturned hull of an unidentified 36-foot craft. That was nine days after another British ship, the Manhebank, reported sighting a 60-foot vessel, thought to be a white-hulled yacht, floating bottom-up off North Africa.

"It's rare to get reports like this in such a close area in such a vast ocean," a Lloyd's spokesman said. "It is rather odd."

House Group Moves To Cut Municipal Bond Advantages

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee, taking a big stride in what one congressman calls a "great race for reform," has moved to limit advantages taxpayers get from municipal bond investments and various plans to postpone income until retirement years.

It was Rep. Charles A. Vanik, who noted the race between the House committee, of which he is a member, and the Senate Finance Committee which is considering tying tax reform in with the House-passed income surtax extension bill.

"The anguish of the taxpayer has gotten through to the Congress," the Ohio Democrat said as a witness before the Senate committee. He urged inclusion of major tax reforms in the surtax measure.

While the Senate group toiled

on the surtax extension, the House committee issued a progress report reaffirming its determination to have a comprehensive tax reform bill through the House before the August congressional recess.

The committee tentatively decided not to end the federal income tax exemption for interest from state and municipal bonds. It proposed, however, that the federal government encourage states and municipalities to issue interest-taxable bonds by offering to subsidize the interest. Thus, in theory, the local governments could still sell their bonds at favorable rates—but there would be fewer tax-exempt issues to be snapped up by banks and wealthy individuals.

Protests against the proposal came quickly from officials of the National Governor's Conference, National Association of Counties and the National League of Cities.

The committee, dealing with the complex field of deferred compensation by corporations and of trusts created to accumulate interest for disbursement later, proposed new rules to trim some tax advantages that can be received by corporation executives and employees.

Generally, the stock or other reimbursement would be taxed: —When it is credited to the person's account, —Or, if the tax payment is postponed, the rate would be the same as if the person receiving funds during retirement had obtained them during his working years.

SBA Sets Ohio Storm Loss: $100 Million

Another Body
Found; Raises
Toll To 40

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Small Business Administration has estimated storm and flood damage to Ohio at $100 million and declared the state a disaster area.

July 4 thunderstorms in the northern part of the state and subsequent flooding drove thousands of families from their homes and left 40 persons dead.

The latest victim to be found was Mrs. Ada Elliot, 58, of Killbuck in Holmes County. Her body was found Friday. The body of her husband, Earl, 62, was found earlier this week.

The SBA's declaration of Ohio as a disaster area was the first formal step necessary for obtaining loans from the federal unit. Applications for loans will be taken at the administration's regional offices in Cleveland and Columbus.

In Bellevue, on the Sandusky-Huron county line, evidence of typhoid and hepatitis germs was reported in cultures taken from surface water covering much of the flooded town.

Dr. John Bushman, a physician and Bellevue city councilman, said the city's water supply is safe, but recommended boiling drinking water at (Continued on Page 5)

Ag Department Says DDT Not Yet Found Dangerous

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Department of Agriculture says it has no evidence DDT is unsafe even though the department temporarily has banned use of the pesticide in its own operations.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., charged earlier this week that the department is unwilling to permanently end all use of the chemical because "the Department of Agriculture is locked in with the agricultural interests who use DDT."

But Dr. George W. Irving, administrator of the agricultural research service, says the department has found nothing to warrant canceling registration of DDT for interstate shipment under current regulations.

Negro Quits Post, Raps Nixon Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Philip Pruitt, saying he had trouble facing himself in the mirror, abruptly resigned after four months as director of a program designed to help redeem President Nixon's campaign pledge of "Black Capitalism."

"You go to the mirror every morning and you say to yourself, 'I'm a Nixon appointee,' and you see all the things going on in the government around you," said Pruitt.

The 32-year-old Negro stepped down Friday as an assistant administrator in charge of the Small Business Administration's minority enterprise program.

President Nixon is probably committed to the program, Pruitt said, "but I think someone's telling him the wrong things."

The White House had no comment on the resignation of one of the administration's higher ranking Negroes.

The minority program, Pruitt said in an interview, has been bogged down in bureaucratic battling between the SBA and the Commerce Department—which the President assigned to coordinate a drive to close a business ownership gap between minority members and whites.

Less than one per cent of the nation's businesses are owned by Negroes.

Republicans on the Senate Select Committee on Small Business, have also spied, he said.

But, the key problem, Pruitt said, was lack of presidential leadership.

Mrs. Eisenhower Said Doing Well

LAKENHEATH, England (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower "is getting along fine" recovering from acute bronchitis at a U.S. Air Force hospital, a hospital spokesman says.

The widow of President Dwight D. Eisenhower was brought to the hospital July 5 after becoming ill on a European vacation.

The spokesman said Friday no hospital bulletins are being issued on her condition because her recovery continues excellently.

"To do that, we would have to find that DDT is either ineffective or unsafe," Irving said in an interview. "We have no evidence that it is either."

The department has ordered a halt to use of nine persistent pesticides—including DDT—in government pest control programs pending completion of a study in early August.

The temporary USDA ban affects only a small percentage of pest control programs involving use of DDT and the eight other persistent, long lasting pesticides, Irving said.

Concern over DDT's effects has been growing since early this year when the federal Food and Drug Administration seized 21,000 pounds of Great Lakes salmon found to contain DDT residues.

Irving said the effects on fish and wildlife do not enter into his agency's consideration of whether or not to register pesticides for interstate shipment, sale and use.

BRIEFING, BRIEFING, BRIEFING — It is just one briefing session after another at Cape Kennedy for Apollo 11 Moon astronauts (from left) Ed Aldrin, Mike Collins, Neil Armstrong.

Apollo Crew Slows Down Pace Of Training Schedule

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Apollo 11's astronauts slowed their training pace today to assure they will be rested when they blast off on their moon-landing mission Wednesday.

"We don't want to launch a tired crew," said Dr. Charles A. Berry, the astronauts' chief physician. "It's a difficult schedule these guys have gone through, but they seem to have fit it very well."

"Our one concern was fatigue," Berry said. "But they've done better than we thought they would and they've done better than they thought they would."

Berry has kept close watch on the health of Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins for several weeks. He has isolated them as much as possible to prevent them from picking up a cold or other germ from a stranger.

Berry's health campaign has been so strong that President Nixon canceled plans to have dinner with the astronauts the night before launching.

Armstrong and Aldrin planned to practice moon landings and takeoffs in lunar landing craft simulator today, while

Collins took up a T38 jet plane up to sharpen his flying proficiency.

The astronauts planned to take Sunday off and relax in crew quarters.

At the launch pad, the countdown continued on schedule toward a launching at 9:32 a.m. EDT Wednesday.

There were a few minor problems, but nothing serious.

The main pad work today involved disconnecting test equipment from the two spaceships—the command vehicle and the lunar lander—and starting to bring them to a flight-ready condition. Other crews continued to monitor the systems of the Saturn 5 rocket.

Top Soviet To Attend Apollo Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin of the Soviet Union has accepted an invitation to watch next week's launch of Apollo 11. If he comes, he will be the first Russian to visit Cape Kennedy.

Officials privately hope his attendance would mean a similar invitation from the Russians.

"There will be no request for reciprocity," said Julian Scheer, assistant administrator of the space agency's public affairs office. "We certainly would not ask. But it enhances chances that an American will attend one of theirs."

The Russians have been invited before, but the invitation always was turned down. Russian trawlers have been observed offshore on several launches.

The acceptance comes on the heels of astronaut Frank Borman's enthusiastic reception in the Soviet Union and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's call for a new era of friendly relations.

In an interview, NASA Administrator Thomas O. Paine was asked whether he thought there would be more cooperation from the Russians once the United States had achieved its moon landing.

"I don't think we have to wait till after we've gone to the moon," Paine said. "We've been discussing some cooperative ventures with the Russians and I think we've made some progress. It is very slight progress, to be sure."

3 Sites Listed; Congressmen Are Aroused

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen already concerned about chemical and biological warfare research have expressed more alarm upon being told the Army has an open-air, nerve gas testing program.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, chairman of the House Government Operations subcommittee investigating such programs, said Friday the military pulled back the curtain of secrecy and admitted it was testing deadly nerve gases in the air over three locations.

He said the Army disclosed lethal chemicals are being tested at the Dugway Proving Ground in Utah, at Edgewood Arsenal in Maryland and at Fort McClellan, Ala.

"I am concerned about this and not convinced of the necessity of all this environmental testing," said Reuss, D-Wis.

Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., said he would ask for immediate suspension of the nerve gas testing. He also called for full reports on the testing from the Army, including details of safety precautions taken to protect surrounding areas.

Rep. Clarence D. Long, D-Md., whose district includes Edgewood, said he wants the testing stopped until Congress is fully informed.

"Frankly, I'm getting awfully tired of the military plunging ahead on so many fronts without consulting Congress," Long said.

Secret testing at the Dugway installation in Utah drew nationwide attention last year when some 6,000 sheep were killed in the area. The commander of the test center which administers Dugway said last Dec. 6 he didn't believe the Army nerve gas caused the death of the sheep, but he said aerial testing had been stopped.

The testing at Fort McClellan is limited to decontamination and detection exercises for the training of chemical specialists.

A statement from the Ft. McClellan information officer said:

"Any statement that open air testing is conducted at Ft. McClellan is in error. Small amounts of lethal chemical agents only—no biologicals—are used in defensive training exercises to train personnel in decontamination, detection and explosive ordnance demolition procedures. As an example a toxic chemical agent such as mustard would be poured on an empty artillery shell and the EOD team undergoing training would be directed to decontaminate the shell. There has been no open air biological testing since Oct. 1967. There has never been open air biological testing at Ft. McClellan."

Reuss did not make specific mention of biological testing in his release of information from the Pentagon, but the subject also was covered in a statement from a public information officer at Edgewood Arsenal. It said: "We have been conducting open air toxic chemical tests at Edgewood Arsenal for more than 15 years. No tests involving biological agents have ever been conducted at Edgewood Arsenal. These controlled chemical tests are authorized by the Department of the Army and conducted under strict safety precautions."

Documents supplied to the subcommittee by the Army said it tests amounts of gas ranging from ounces to over 10 pounds in bomblets, land mines, mortars, artillery shells and rockets.

Worthington Hills Reports Cloudburst

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Suburban Worthington Hills recorded 6½ inches of rain from a cloudburst Friday which flooded scores of basements and halted traffic on two main highways. No injuries were reported.

The weather bureau reported high water closed U. S. 23 and Ohio 3 at U. S. 270 and Interstate 615.

Sides Deadlock On ABM Issue

No Compromise
Yet Successful

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a week of Senate debate opponents of the Safeguard system remain confident they can either win or force a compromise while backers of the administration's missile defense program insist there will be no retreat.

"If they don't compromise we've got them beat," Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., cosponsor of one of two compromise amendments introduced this week, said in an interview.

But Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., told the Senate: "I'm convinced that acceptance of either amendment would materially weaken our defense posture. The administration is opposed to the two amendments."

The amendment proposed by Hart and Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., would limit the program to research with no deployment of any missile components and no authorization for site acquisition. Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., is pushing the other amendment to permit deployment of radar and computer elements while barring the missiles.

These amendments also were rejected Friday by the Pentagon. A spokesman said Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird wished to express his "unqualified support for the Safeguard proposal as submitted by the President to Congress."

The spokesman, Jerry Friedman, replied "that is correct" when asked if Laird opposes a compromise.

During this first week of debate on the $20 billion military procurement authorization bill, which contains $759.1 million for Safeguard, there was no apparent effort to try to work out an amendment that would fall between the Cooper-Hart and McIntyre proposals. Some senators see this as the most likely route to a successful compromise.

Astronauts To Leave Space Junk On Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The moon's first human visitors will leave behind an American flag made of nylon, a plaque, microfilmed messages from leaders of foreign nations and an assortment of space junk from overshoes to a two-ton engine.

Neil A. Armstrong—the first man to walk on the moon will plant the 3-by-5-foot flag soon after he starts his two-hour, 40-minute stay out on the lunar surface.

Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. will photograph Armstrong as he sticks an eight-foot staff bearing the flag into the moon's crust.

The metal plaque to be fastened to a part of the lunar module that will remain on the moon will bear the inscription: "Here men from the planet earth

First set foot upon the moon July 1969 A.D.

We came in peace for all mankind."

The plaque will be signed by the three Apollo 11 astronauts and by President Nixon.

Etched at the top of the plaque will be two hemispheres, symbolizing the Western and Eastern hemispheres of the earth. A dot on the Western hemisphere will mark the spot where Apollo 11 took off from earth, Cape Kennedy, Fla.

The biggest piece of space junk the crew will leave behind is the 4,100-pound lower half of the moon landing craft. It contains the engine and fuel compartments the astronauts use to descend to the moon. It also has the four spindly legs which give the lunar module its spidery look.

When the astronauts leave, they launch the upper, or ascent, stage of the LM from atop the descent stage.

On the moon, the astronauts will use and discard 17 pounds of specially designed tools. These include a hammer, claw-like tongs, a scoop, a handle extension and a coring device.

They also will leave two scientific instruments which will provide data for months after the flight. One is a laser beam reflector and the other is a seismic measuring unit powered by solar cells.

The television camera which will let the world watch man's first steps on the moon will also be left behind, sitting on a tripod some 70 feet from where the LM lands. The camera will operate until the ascent stage leaves the moon and will, if all works well, show Armstrong and Aldrin blasting off to link up again with the command ship in orbit around the moon.

After their moon walk, the astronauts return to the moon lander to clean house. They will toss all of the equipment they do not need onto the moon's surface.

These items will include two portable life support units, an (Continued on Page 5)

Reds Shell Pullout Center 1 American Killed, 7 Hurt

SAIGON (AP) — An enemy rocket fired into a 9th Division processing center killed one American soldier and wounded seven just three days before they were scheduled to go home, the U.S. Command said today.

The command said the Soviet-built 107mm rocket exploded Thursday afternoon near the center at Dong Tam.

The rocket killed two Americans and wounded 21. Eight of these were members of the 4th Battalion, 47th Infantry, which is scheduled to fly to the United States Sunday.

It will be the second 800-man battalion of the 9th Division to leave under President Nixon's order to cut U.S. troop strength by 25,000 men by the end of August.

At about the same time, the 9th Marine Regimental Landing Team will begin moving from near the demilitarized zone to Quang Tri in central Vietnam before boarding ships for Okinawa.

However, the 9th Marines may be delayed by a typhoon nearing the coast.

The withdrawals that have been completed and are scheduled this weekend involve 10,000 men. The U.S. Command said under its present timetable, the August withdrawal deadline may be beaten by several weeks.

Although a lull continued in ground fighting, headquarters reports indicated some increase in small scale skirmishes and shelling across South Vietnam.

The most dramatic firefight reported resulted in the liberation of a badly wounded American soldier who had been missing and evidently held captive by enemy forces for two months.

An enemy defector reported the location of the wounded man, identified as Sner, 4 Larry D. Aiken of Jamaica, N.Y., and a South Vietnamese reconnaissance American was taken by helicopter to a field hospital. U.S. officers said the soldier was not wounded in the firefight but was unable to tell exactly how old his wound was.

Fear Sailor Dead; Vessel Was 4th Found Abandoned

LONDON (AP) — British round-the-world yachtsman Donald Crowhurst was given up for lost today. But the mystery surrounding his disappearance deepened with the disclosure that his vessel was the fourth found apparently abandoned in the same area within 12 days.

U.S. Air Force planes searched all day Friday for the 36-year-old sailor whose deserted three-hulled yacht Teignmouth Electron was found Thursday, 700 miles west of the Azores.

Search headquarters then announced, "The search has been abandoned . . . As long as it is considered a life can be saved, every effort is made. Once it is thought no longer reasonable a person can be alive, as in this case, then resources are withdrawn."

The London Sunday Times, which sponsored the around-the-world race that Crowhurst had been favored to win, announced that the $12,000 prize for the fastest voyage would go to Crowhurst's wife Clare. A spokesman said the trimaran had crossed the line of its outward journey and thus had completed its circumnavigation of the globe. Crowhurst had been at sea 262 days.

Shortly before the search for Crowhurst was abandoned, Lloyd's Shipping Exchange in London disclosed that since June 30 three other boats have been found unmanned in the same area where Crowhurst's boat was found.

The Vagabond, a 20-foot fiberglass boat belonging to Peter Wallin of Sweden—another lone globe-circling sailor—was found Sunday by the Swedish ship Golar Frost. A boarding party discovered everything on board undisturbed but no sign of Wallin. The last entry in the boat's log was July 2.

On Tuesday, the British tanker Hellsoma sighted the overturned hull of an unidentified 36-foot craft. That was nine days after another British ship, the Maplebank, reported sighting a 60-foot vessel, thought to be a white-hulled yacht, floating bottom-up off North Africa.

"It's rare to get reports like this in such a close area in such a vast ocean," a Lloyd's spokesman said. "It is rather odd."

House Group Moves To Cut Municipal Bond Advantages

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee, taking a big stride in what one congressman calls a "great race for reform," has moved to limit advantages taxpayers get from municipal bond investments and various plans to postpone income until retirement years.

It was Rep. Charles A. Vanik, who noted the race between the House committee, of which he is a member, and the Senate Finance Committee which is considering tying tax reform in with the House-passed income surtax extension bill.

"The anguish of the taxpayer has gotten through to the Congress," the Ohio Democrat said as a witness before the Senate committee. He urged inclusion of major tax reforms in the surtax measure.

While the Senate group toiled

on the surtax extension, the House committee issued a progress report reaffirming its determination to have a comprehensive tax reform bill through the House before the August congressional recess.

The committee tentatively decided not to end the federal income tax exemption for interest from state and municipal bonds. It proposed, however, that the federal government encourage states and municipalities to issue interest-taxable bonds by offering to subsidize the interest. Thus, in theory, the local governments could still sell their bonds at favorable rates—but there would be fewer tax-exempt issues to be snapped up by banks and wealthy individuals.

Protests against the proposal came quickly from officials of the National Governors' Conference, National Association of Counties and the National League of Cities.

The committee, dealing with the complex field of deferred compensation by corporations and of trusts created to accumulate interest for disbursement later, proposed new rules to trim some tax advantages that can be received by corporation executives and employees.

Generally, the stock or other reimbursement would be taxed: —When it is credited to the person's account, —Or, if the tax payment is postponed, the rate would be the same as if the person receiving funds during retirement had obtained them during his working years.

Savings Bond Interest Hike To Be Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration plans to ask Congress to abolish a 51-year-old interest rate ceiling it says hampers the sale of savings bonds and makes it impossible to sell long-term Treasury bonds.

Announcement of the proposal Friday by Paul A. Volcker, Treasury undersecretary for monetary affairs, drew immediate fire from Chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking Committee.

The Texas Democrat, no fan of the Treasury Department or Secretary David M. Kennedy, said "the removal of the 4 1/2 percent ceiling is tantamount to a surrender to a permanent state of high interest rates in the U.S. economy."

Under a 1918 law, extended to savings bonds in 1959, the government cannot pay more than 4 1/2 percent interest on securities that mature in more than seven years. Interest rates in the current commercial money market are far above that.

Volcker said Congress would be asked soon—although he did not set a date for submitting legislation—to do away entirely with the ceiling. He emphasized, however, that the department hopes the House Ways and Means Committee will get general tax reform out of the way before taking up the interest ceiling.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said Friday the committee hopes to be finished with tax reform before the August recess begins next month.

Apollo Crew Slows Down Pace Of Training Schedule

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Apollo 11's astronauts slowed their training pace today to assure they will be rested when they blast off on their moon-landing mission Wednesday.

"We don't want to launch a tired crew," said Dr. Charles A. Berry, the astronauts' chief physician. "It's a difficult schedule these guys have gone through, but they seem to have fit it very well."

"Our one concern was fatigue," Berry said. "But they've done better than we thought they would and they've done better than they thought they would."

Berry has kept close watch on the health of Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins for several weeks. He has isolated them as much as possible to prevent them from picking up a cold or other germ from a stranger.

Berry's health campaign has been so strong that President Nixon canceled plans to have dinner with the astronauts the night before launching.

Armstrong and Aldrin planned to practice moon landings and takeoffs in lunar landing craft simulator today, while

Collins took up a T38 jet plane up to sharpen his flying proficiency.

The astronauts planned to take Sunday off and relax in crew quarters.

At the launch pad, the countdown continued on schedule toward a launching at 9:32 a.m. EDT Wednesday.

There were a few minor problems, but nothing serious.

The main pad work today involved disconnecting test equipment from the two spaceships—the command vehicle and the lunar lander—and starting to bring them to a flight-ready condition. Other crews continued to monitor the systems of the Saturn 5 rocket.

Top Soviet To Attend Apollo Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin of the Soviet Union has accepted an invitation to watch next week's launch of Apollo 11. If he comes, he will be the first Russian to visit Cape Kennedy.

Officials privately hope his attendance would mean a similar invitation from the Russians.

"There will be no request for reciprocity," said Julian Scheer, assistant administrator of the space agency's public affairs office. "We certainly would not ask. But it enhances chances that an American will attend one of theirs."

The Russians have been invited before, but the invitation always was turned down. Russian trawlers have been observed offshore on several launches.

The acceptance comes on the heels of astronaut Frank Borman's enthusiastic reception in the Soviet Union and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's call for a new era of friendly relations.

In an interview, NASA Administrator Thomas O. Paine was asked whether he thought there would be more cooperation from the Russians once the United States had achieved its moon landing.

"I don't think we have to wait till after we've gone to the moon," Paine said. "We've been discussing some cooperative ventures with the Russians and I think we've made some progress. It is very slight progress, to be sure."

3 Sites Listed; Congressmen Are Aroused

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen already concerned about chemical and biological warfare research have expressed more alarm upon being told the Army has an open-air, nerve gas testing program.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, chairman of the House Government Operations subcommittee investigating such programs, said Friday the military pulled back the curtain of secrecy and admitted it was testing deadly nerve gases in the air over three locations.

He said the Army disclosed lethal chemicals are being tested at the Dugway Proving Ground in Utah, at Edgewood Arsenal in Maryland and at Fort McClellan, Ala.

"I am concerned about this and not convinced of the necessity of all this environmental testing," said Reuss, D-Wis.

Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., said he would ask for immediate suspension of the nerve gas testing. He also called for full reports on the testing from the Army, including details of safety precautions taken to protect surrounding areas.

Rep. Clarence D. Long, D-Md., whose district includes Edgewood, said he wants the testing stopped until Congress is fully informed.

"Frankly, I'm getting awfully tired of the military plunging ahead on so many fronts without consulting Congress," Long said.

Secret testing at the Dugway installation in Utah drew nationwide attention last year when some 6,000 sheep were killed in the area. The commander of the test center which administers Dugway said last Dec. 6 he didn't believe the Army nerve gas caused the death of the sheep, but he said aerial testing had been stopped.

The testing at Fort McClellan is limited to decontamination and detection exercises for the training of chemical specialists.

A statement from the Ft. McClellan information officer said:

"Any statement that open air testing is conducted at Ft. McClellan is in error. Small amounts of lethal chemical agents only—no biologicals—are used in defensive training exercises to train personnel in decontamination, detection and explosive ordnance demolition procedures. As an example a toxic chemical agent such as mustard would be poured on an empty artillery shell and the EOD team undergoing training would be directed to decontaminate the shell. There has been no open air biological testing since Oct. 1967. There has never been open air biological testing at Ft. McClellan."

Reuss did not make specific mention of biological testing in his release of information from the Pentagon, but the subject also was covered in a statement from a public information officer at Edgewood Arsenal. It said: "We have been conducting open air toxic chemical tests at Edgewood Arsenal for more than 15 years. No tests involving biological agents have ever been conducted at Edgewood Arsenal. These controlled chemical tests are authorized by the Department of the Army and conducted under strict safety precautions."

Documents supplied to the subcommittee by the Army said it tests amounts of gas ranging from ounces to over 10 pounds in bomblets, land mines, mortars, artillery shells and rockets.

Plant Population Key To Higher Corn Production

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Looking for higher corn yields? Then consider plant stands. They are a very important factor in determining corn yields, says Larry Shepherd, Extension Agronomist at Ohio State University.

In 1968, corn stands averaged a little over 15,000 plants on Ohio farms and in 1969 they were over 17,000. This was the first noticeable jump in plant stands in the last five years.

"This is still 3,000 to 8,000 plants less than is recommended for most hybrids," Shepherd declares. "And this tends to reduce yield potential and profit in corn production on Ohio farms."

To check your plant stand, one simple way is to measure off the length of row equal to 1-1000 of an acre. Count the number of stalks and multiply by 1,000. Check several sections of row and take the average.

YOU can measure off 1-1000 of an acre as follows: for 40-inch rows, 13 feet 1 inch equals 1000 of an acre; for 30-inch rows, 17 feet 4 inches equals 1-1000 of an acre; and for 20-inch rows, 26 feet 2 inches equals 1-1000 of an acre.

For rows narrower than 40 inches, add 4 inches of length for each inch the row width is less than 40 inches.

For rows wider than 40 inches, subtract 4 inches of length for each inch the row width is more than 40 inches — this table is in the Ohio Agronomy Guide, available from your County Extension Office.

The important thing is to remember 13 feet 1 inch for 40-inch rows and adjust by 4 inches of length each 1 inch difference in width.

More than 300 hybrids are listed in the Agronomy Guide with their recommended plant stands for narrow and standard row width.

Some common problems in obtaining an adequate stand are suggested by the agronomist: The most important factor is not dropping enough seed in the first place. There is usually about a 15 per cent loss in emergence from the seed drop.

So the planter should be set to drop 10 to 20 per cent more seed than the desired stand.

Fit proper plate for the seed, and check actual drop with the planter manual. Errors have been found as high as a 1-3 difference.

SPEED of travel is important for standard row widths. Drive not more than 4 miles per hour with 24 cell plates and 3 miles per hour with 16 cell plates.

Planting at the right depth was very important, both last year and this year. Corn planted more than 1½ inches

Lightning Ends Big Cattle Sale

ROME, Ga. (AP) — For more than 10 years Mrs. Denton S. McCluney of near Rome had been breeding a prize herd of Black Angus cattle. She finally had decided to sell the herd.

But the day before the auction lightning struck a tree in a pasture and killed 20 of the 26 animals.

Mrs. McCluney said the cattle were worth about $4,000.

deep in late April or early May could have problems in emerging because of thick crusts and below-normal temperatures.

Now is the time to check for injury from insects such as fleas, beetles, cut worms, grubs, wire worms, too, says Shepherd. This year he has seen fields with almost 100 percent stand loss from wire worms — fields that had been in sod for several years.

The Adult Reading World

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Pickaway County Public Library offers a variety of books for summertime reading pleasure. A list of suggested books for adult reading will be reviewed weekly for The Herald by the library staff.

"Missouri Bittersweet" by MacKinlay Kantor, MacKinlay Kantor writes beautifully, whether he is telling of a Civil War prison camp or an Iowa Indian Uprising. In this lovely book he writes equally well of Missouri, a state which he obviously loves, though he is not native to it. Kantor and his wife Irene drove a leisurely path through Missouri, and Mr. Kantor mused as he went. Some chapters are descriptions of the places they visited. Like Silver Dollar City, where Curly Wolf and the sheriff shot up Curly's wife, right before their eyes. Some are historical reports, such as his puncture of the Jesse James Legend. And there are accounts of friendships quickly made and firmly up in a few hours of comradeship. As with Fetch, the undertaker. Mrs. Fetch and Irene talked with voices "Vying to demonstrate their enthusiasm on a given theme. It weaves in and out, a fugue of conversation." A highlight of the book is Kantor's imaginary address to a high school graduation class entitled: "These Uncanny Nineteen Sixties." Recommended for anyone who enjoys quality writing.

"A Place Called Saturday" by Mary Astor. Mary Astor moved gracefully—and successfully—from acting to writing. Now the author of several best sellers, she has established herself as being as competent in the field of letters as she was on the Hollywood screen. "A Place Called Saturday" is a fast moving, easily read story, though at times the plotting seems to be contrived. Her subject is a timely one—pregnancy resulting from a rape. A Tom Jones type coincidence offers a solution of sorts. One wishes Miss Astor had treated her theme in greater depth. Light reading.

"Castles of Europe" by

Geoffrey Hindley. "Castles of Europe" is one of a series of books entitled "Great Buildings of the World." Here are depicted twelve famous castles and their environs. Each is shown in full color, as well as in numerous black and white photographs. Mr. Hindley discusses the building of each, its fortification, and something of the times in which it was prominent.

"The Tragedy of Lyndon Johnson" by Eric F. Goldman. Eric Goldman, historian, Princeton professor, was "intellectual in Residence" at the White House for three years under Lyndon Johnson. Among his responsibilities were the quiet brain trust, the Commission on Presidential Scholars, and the White House Festival of the Arts. Though he was not involved in politics, Mr. Goldman has ample opportunity to observe Johnson and his wife. He is extremely kind, really chivalrous, toward Lady Bird. But he feels that Johnson, despite his great accomplishments as president, failed miserably short of his avowed goal. Because of the willingness to compromise, to horse trade, and because of the Bobby Baker case, which really hurt him, he lost public confidence. He simply could not achieve the respect and love of the American people. Right or wrong, they consider him first of all a wheeler-dealer.

GOOD FEEDING pays off
in better profits!
GOOD FEEDING starts
when you use Red Rose on your farm!

The way to measure feed values is to compare the results with the cost. Feed Red Rose to your cows, calves, steers, horses, pigs or poultry. You'll find that the milk you get from your cows, the beef and pork you send to market, or the eggs you gather are the results you have been hoping for -- to get that extra profit!

Every bag of Red Rose feed you buy contains high quality ingredients--plus the unseen ingredients of Red Rose research and years of manufacturing experience.

Win Round In Miss Ohio Preliminary

CEDAR POINT (AP)—Miss Madeline Carvalho, 20, competing as Miss Miami Valley, won the second round of preliminary talent competition in the Miss Ohio pageant at Cedar Point Friday night.

Roberta Faye Groves, a 19-year-old sophomore at the Portsmouth branch of Ohio University, advanced another step in bathing suit competition with vital statistics of 37-24-37. She competed as Miss Portsmouth.

Miss Carvalho, a senior at the University of Cincinnati, sang Haba Era from the opera Carmen to gain her victory. The talent awards count 50 per cent of the total points for the pageant. Swimming suit awards represent 25 per cent. Judges will choose five finalists by tonight when a new Miss Ohio will be named. She will represent the state at the Miss America pageant at Atlantic City, N. J.

Miss America of 1963, Jacqueline Jean Mayer, is mistress of ceremonies for the contest here this week. She is a former Miss Ohio from Sandusky.

Perry Farmers of Tomorrow

By Jill Long

The Perry Farmers of Tomorrow 4-H club met June 23 at the Atlanta Community Building. The meeting was brought to order by the vice-president Debbie Morris.

Judy Wolford led the club in the 4-H pledge. The roll was called and the minutes were read and approved. There were 12 members present.

The club discussed the community projects. The contestants were chosen for the King and Queen contest and our club will be represented by Larry Kempton and Debbie Morris. Our health contestant for this year will be Bruce McFadden. The club then discussed the State Fair and the members that would be taking projects there.

Jeff Skinner then made the motion that the meeting be adjourned and the motion was second by Judy Wolford. Refreshments were served by Vernon Elliot and Mike Weidinger.

Washington Hillclimbers

By Steve Kempton

The May 22 meeting of the Washington Hillclimbers 4-H Club was held at the home of Steve and Dale Kempton. Betty Bolender, president, called the meeting to order. A representative of a feed company showed slides of a research farm. Refreshments were served.

The June 12 meeting was at the home of Jeff, Doug and Ellen Palm. The meeting consisted of the health report by Ellen Palm, Dr. Robert Smith showed slides of the hospital ship Hope.

The June 26 meeting was a swimming party at Goldcliff Park. The business session was led by Jeff Palm, vice president. The discussion was about 4-H camp.

The 4-H Bumble Bees Club

By Linda Davis

The meeting was called to order by our president Tom Scherer. Roll call was taken by answering the name of a flower growing in members' gardens. There were 17 members present. The field trip, swim, and garden tour to be held Aug. 4, 1969 at Mrs. Richard E. Jones home was discussed.

Mrs. G. G. Campbell was introduced as a senior committee member. Mrs. Campbell was very helpful during the evening when club members practiced making flower arrangements for the Pickaway County Fair. At the end of our meeting, Mrs. Campbell orally judged arrangements. Many thanks are due Mrs. Ned Harden who conducted the program for the evening. "Flower Show Practice and Workshop", for county fair. Mrs. Harden showed how zinnia and marigold specimens are cut, prepared and judged. She explained the point system the judges will use at the fair.

The Pickaway Tractor Jockies

By Bobby Minshall

The eighth meeting of the Pickaway Tractor Jockies, was called to order by president Dave Garret at the Milburn Oliver sales.

We decided to change the date of our tractor rodeo to the 24 of July at the fairgrounds at 1:00 p.m.

We discussed the controls and gauges on the tractor.

Refreshments were served. The next meeting is 8 p.m. July 15 at the Milburn Oliver Sales.

Westfall Wranglers

By Debbie Thompson

The Westfall Wranglers held their first riding meeting at the home of Ann Bower on June 22. Thirteen members attended. Eleven of the members brought their horses and ponies. The riding meeting started out in halter class with advisors Alfred Johnson as judge and Clifford Bowser as ring master.

During halter we first led our horses into the ring and walked them around the ring and lined up facing your horse watching the judge at all times. Then we walked to the ring master and trotted back to the judge to give him a good look at the horse. After halter class we rode at a walk, trot, and canter.

We lined up and backed our horses. Each one of us had a chance to try to get your horse in the right lead when it started to rain, but the rain can't stop the Westfall Wranglers!

The second riding meeting was held July 6 at the home of Ann Bower. Fifteen members attended. Twelve brought their horses. We started off with halter class again with Alfred Johnson as judge and Marvin Thompson as ring master. This time our riding class was much on posture and how you sit.

Our next riding meeting is July 20 at 3 p.m. at the home of Ann Bower, and it is very important for all members to attend and bring their horses.

The Westfall Wranglers community project was donating a sign to the Williamsport Community Park.

Home Agent Tips

By Marjorie Wolford

Home Economics Agent

The most important single vegetable in the world today is the potato. It is known and consumed — one way or another — over most of the world, although Oriental peoples prefer rice. Indirectly, it caused many Irish to immigrate to the United States in the mid-19th century, more than a hundred years after other Irish had introduced the potato to this country.

The United States today produces an average of 30 billion pounds of potatoes every year, yet ranks fifth in the world, well behind Russia which stands first with an annual production of 20 billion pounds, or more than a third of the 560 billion pound world crop. Much of the Russian crop is consumed in liquid form — vodka is an international drink — and some is used for animal feed. Much of the East Germany, West Germany and Poland crops, which rank between Russia and the U.S. in size, is used for animal food.

The word "potato" is believed to be derived from the Spanish discoverers' understanding of the South American Indians' name for the plant, papa or patata. Our cultivated plant of today comes from South America, having originated in the Andes, most likely in Chile.

The white discoverers of Peru, Ecuador, and Chile were so busy looking for precious metals and stones they failed to recognize the potential value of the potato and other vegetables then unknown in their home countries, and failed to even record definite facts about them in their journals.

Many wild species of the potato plant grow in the cool parts of Peru, Bolivia, and in Ecuador, but they seem generally more distantly related to our potato than do those which are now found along the coast and islands of mid-southern Chile. There is a belief that the Incas improved the wild, bitter potato of Peru and made it one of the mainstays of their diet. Another theory is that he potato known to the Incas was carried up into the Peru-Bolivia-Ecuador region from Chile in prehistoric times by tribes who preceded the Incas.

The Indians of the high country of Peru still use their ancient method of dehydrating potatoes. They sun-dry them, after first freezing them at the higher levels, so they can be kept from one harvest to the next. They are then pounded into flour or cooked whole.

Both Sir John Hawkins and Sir Walter Raleigh are credited with being first to take the potato to Ireland, where it became so important that it is still known, even in our country, as the "Irish potato." Irish immigrants brought it to New England in 1719, and when the late blight disease of potato in Ireland, thousands of families followed their potato to the United States.

Food poisoning ranks second only to the common cold as the most frequent cause of illness in his country, say U.S. government authorities, and food poisoning results most frequently from carelessness in the handling, preparation, and storage of food.

Poor food-handling practices in the home often cause illness in the family, even though the foods were safe to eat when purchased or first prepared. Lack of sanitation, insufficient cooking, and improper storage can allow bacteria in food to increase to dangerous levels. Outbreaks of illness from food

Low Priced Wheat Is Good Feed For Farm Livestock

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The sharp decline in the market price for No. 2 wheat and the application of more stringent standards for various market grades has generated considerable interest in the use of wheat as a feed grain.

Persons considering such a move need to consider the nutrients present in wheat and the limitations that should be observed in the percentage of wheat included in concentrate mixtures.

Wheat should be considered as a substitute for some of the shelled corn that would normally be in the mixture. Wheat and shelled corn are similar in content of minerals, crude fiber and total digestible nutrients (TDN).

The varieties of soft red winter wheat commonly grown in Ohio, however, contain 10.2 per cent crude protein rather than the 8.8 per cent to 8.6 per cent crude protein found in shelled corn. Therefore, when wheat is substituted for shelled corn in a concentrate mixture, less high protein supplement needs be added.

THE higher crude protein percentage of wheat makes it 5 per cent to 10 per cent more valuable than corn as a feed for most farm livestock, but not for poultry. Therefore, when wheat and shelled corn have the same market value per pound, it is profitable to feed wheat to most livestock.

When wheat sells for less than corn, it can also be fed profitably to poultry. Comparisons based on the market price per bushel are not valid because a bushel of wheat is assumed to weigh 60 pounds and a bushel of corn only 56 pounds. Wheat should be coarsely ground for all species of animals, and when used in mash rations for poultry, fine grinding produces a flour-like meal that is less palatable.

There are some limitations in the amount of wheat that should be used in the concentrate mixtures for various species of livestock. Budgeting the wheat supply to last throughout the feeding period usually solves the problem.

When changes are made in rations, they should be made gradually. Wheat is a palatable grain that can be used to provide up to 50 per cent of the grain used in a concentrate mixture for dairy cattle. Larger amounts have been used but are not routinely recommended.

WHEAT should be substituted for shelled corn on a pound-for-pound basis. If it is substituted for corn and cob meal, a heavier mixture containing more TDN per pound or unit contaminated by harmful bacteria are especially common during hot summer months when perishable foods are carried on picnics and cookouts without proper refrigeration.

Families can be protected from foodborne illness by: attention to personal hygiene by all members of the household; making sure all dishes, utensils, kitchen equipment, and work surfaces are clean; taking simple precautions in storing, preparing, cooking and preserving all foods.

of volume will result. This will not cause digestive upset and may increase milk production, if underfeeding has been a problem in the herd.

The amount of high protein supplement needed will be reduced when wheat is added to the concentrate mixture but salt and phosphorus supplementation should continue.

In grain mixtures for fattening lambs and beef cattle, 25 per cent of the shelled corn normally fed can be replaced by ground wheat. Growing-fattening swine also utilize wheat efficiently, and 50 per cent of the shelled corn in their rations can be replaced by ground wheat.

Brood ewes and cows whose rations are predominately roughage, at times need limited amounts of grain to provide additional energy. Under these conditions ground wheat can replace 100 per cent of the ground shelled corn needed.

Wheat can replace 50 per cent of the shelled corn normally fed to brood sows.

For feeding poultry, the metabolizable energy value of wheat is about 10 per cent less than that of corn, while the crude protein content of wheat is 20 per cent greater than that of corn. Therefore, when wheat replaces corn in a formula, the protein content of the finished feed increases, while its energy value decreases.

If constant protein and energy composition of the formula is to be maintained, high protein supplement used in the formula should be reduced and replaced by high energy ingredients like the grains or feed grade fat.

Name All Ohio A Disaster Area

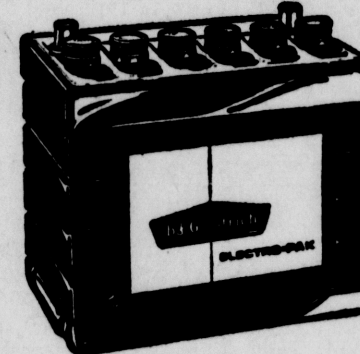

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The office of Sen. William B. Saxbe of Ohio in Washington was advised by the Small Business Administration Friday that it had declared the entire state of Ohio a disaster area as a result of last weekend's storm and floods.

The administration said loan applications would be taken, starting immediately in the regional administration offices in Cleveland and Columbus.

The reason the entire state was placed under the disaster area designation, although only northern Ohio and a few central portions of the state suffered severe damage, is that it would take too long for a county-by-county breakdown of losses suffered, administration officials said.

The Vanishing Eagle

The bald eagle, symbol of America's strength and vigilance, is making news once again and again the news isn't good. Ornithologists have noted the eagle's dwindling numbers and fear that it is headed for extinction. Various reasons are advanced for its decline.

Some hold the eagle is losing its fertility because of the heavy use of insecticides in marshy areas where it feeds. Other point to storms which topple its lofty nests, to the guns of hunters who flout protection laws, to the steady encroachment of building developments which deprive it of its natural and lonely habitat.

The eagle apparently has trouble living in man's environment. And, regrettable as this is, it should not be surprising in view of the increasing difficulty man has living with himself.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — If present trends continue, the annual sales of bicycles in the United States will match automobile sales in a couple of years, and therein lies a surprising story of social change and marketing innovation.

Almost anyone could guess that bikes were rising in popularity, after seeing once again neighbors pedalling rather than driving to the station and flocks of youngsters winging along in multicolored "high risers."

The sales figures are probably a bit higher than your guesses.

As recently as 1960, about 3.6 million bikes were sold. By 1967 the figure had leaped to 6 million. It surged to 7.5 million last year and is expected to rise 12 per cent to 8.4 million in 1969.

The swing to bikes has at least two origins: old age and youth.

Dr. Paul Dudley White and others promoted the idea that pedalling was a wonderful form of exercise even for the elderly, and now thousands of miles of paths are appearing in cities that long had ignored the needs of cyclists.

A larger thrust, however, seems to have come from the youngsters. Seven years ago the partners in a San Diego bike shop observed teenagers buying odd parts and improving their own vehicles.

Recognizing that the demand was there, the partners, Gene Bandel and Marion Moore, assembled some bikes with high handlebars, elevated and elongated "banana" seats, and low-to-the-ground chassis. They sold swiftly.

Later on the major bike makers, long accustomed to turning out the same conventional product each year, caught on to the idea: youngsters wanted styling; they wanted innovation; they looked forward to new models each year; they desired options.

Wild options now are available, including pretzel handlebars, steering wheels instead of bars, multispeed gear shifts, front and rear shock absorbers, caliper hand brakes, console stick shifts and quilted backrests.

The most popular bike in America now is the high riser. That's the one with the high handlebars, elevated seat, back support or "sissy bar," and small wheels that make for maneuverability. It accounts for 75 per cent of sales.

However, for the adult who fears a fall, a tri-wheeler also is selling well. This is a conventional vehicle in most ways except for double wheels in the rear, along with a basket for carrying groceries or a brief case.

All this has begun to push up prices, of course. A high riser costs a minimum of about $35, and the addition of accessories can push up the price to $80 or so—even more if exotic parts are piled on.

And, as any product becomes more complex, so also does the servicing. As many fathers have learned in recent months, it can be a maddening job to change a tire when the gear box and torsion spring seat suspension are in the way.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor:
People generally seem to be concerned about all of the problems of today. We often hear the question, "What has happened to this younger generation?"

We say we have tried to teach them right but they have gotten the wrong influence in the schools or somewhere. So we excuse ourselves by using the old standby—the scapegoat.

He takes the blame for all our failures. Have we forgotten, or did we not know, "Thus saith the Lord, the heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked, who can know it?" We need to have changed hearts.

This is why we have problems even in little league baseball. The sport, fun, and benefit the kids receive is ruined by adults who war with each other.

The profanity used would be bad enough on skid row. I am a fan and feel that enthusiasm and excitement is part of the game, even some mild protests. It surely is no place for fights, foul language, or disregard for the feelings and rights of others.

I am not saying this to any specific individuals but that we might learn an unending law found in Proverbs 22-6.

Many of the boys are good friends even if they are real rivals in the game. I never see any kid mad at another and all is well between them.

This reminds me of a scripture, "Except we become as a little child we shall in no wise enter into the kingdom of heaven." I don't think this reference is to older children that have already taken on the characteristics of their unregenerate parents.

Before we blame a younger generation maybe we should look to see what help we have contributed by our lives and actions. It is not so important who won or lost but how we played the game.

New York City Is Embarrassment To Demo Party

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York City's tangled political situation, already a Republican headache, is producing a bit of embarrassment for national Democrats, too.

Democratic National Chairman Fred R. Harris has chosen so far to avoid endorsing his party's nominee for mayor of New York City, Mario A. Procaccio.

"I don't intend as of now to get involved in the New York race," Harris said Thursday. He did get involved in an earlier mayoral contest, that in Los Angeles.

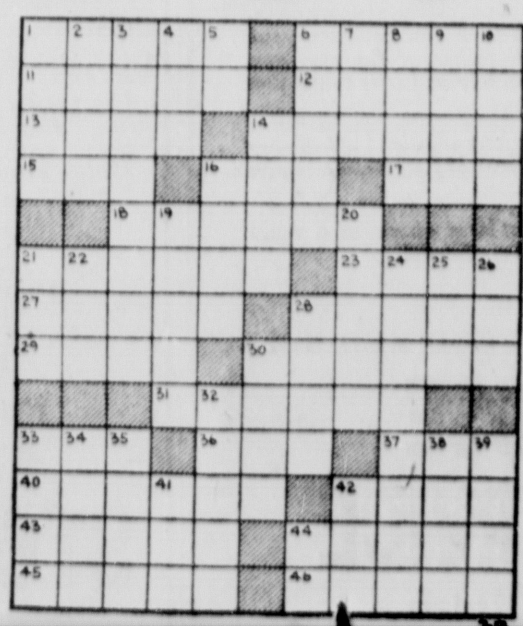

In that race, officially non-partisan, the party chairman gave his personal endorsement to Thomas Bradley, the Negro city councilman who ultimately was defeated by Mayor Samuel Yorty.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A MOTORIST was tootling along the Pennsylvania Turnpike when he suddenly ran into an almost impenetrable fog. Finally, he made out a sign ahead, and got out of his and struck a match to read it.

It was a familiar picture—and the caption read, "Smookey the Bear Says Put Out That Match!"

In his new book, "The Game of Baseball," Gil Hodges, Met manager and enormously popular ex-Dodger first sacker, tells about one of the most confusing days of his life. First, his Dodgers won a key World Series contest, 2 to 0—and it was Gil who batted in the only two runs. Then he came home expecting a royal welcome from his son, Gil, Jr., then aged 5.

Gil, Jr., however, was watching TV. His only comment when his father entered the room was, "Gee, Daddy, you just missed Captain Midnight."

The editor of a popular fashion magazine contended recently that a sense of style was inborn. "As proof," she continued, "I could show you apprentice girls on my staff who haven't got the brains of a button—but turn them loose at the fashion previews and they come back with the best hat or shoes or dress of the season. They SMELL what's good and it has absolutely nothing to do with intelligence."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

One of the dangers of long illnesses, is the possibility of developing painful bed sores. Doctors and nurses are constantly on the lookout for the red areas around the hips, the heels and the elbows that mean pressure is being exerted at those spots. Such areas can be protected with foam rubber padding but even this can be ineffective in the elderly who are confined to bed for long periods of time.

A new air-suspended bed was created for the victims of severe burns and has been used successfully to relieve pressure sores and to prevent them in patients who are expected to be in bed for a long time.

One such bed type has been in use in England for a number of years. Another was designed by an engineer working in cooperation with the surgical department of the Medical College of South Carolina. By a very involved method the patient actually is made to lie on a bed of air which completely protects tender portions of the body and prevents development of bed sores or ulcers that can be so devastating to the chronically sick. It has had great success in healing bed sores that failed to respond to ordinary methods at our disposal.

Painful whiplash to the neck, painful arthritis of the spine of the neck and a variety of other neck conditions may occasionally need traction for the relief of pain and to promote healing.

It is not always feasible for the patient to be admitted to the hospital for simple traction, especially in these days when beds are at a premium. Homemade devices are only fair and are difficult to make.

I was delighted, therefore, when I came across an uncomplicated but effective device which can be attached to a door frame and which can hold the neck firmly and give the traction. This excellent home device is manufactured by an Indiana firm. It should under no circumstances be used without specific directions from the doctor. He can regulate the counterweight and suggest the time and frequency with which this home traction should be used.

Many people are. They have come down with the hot weather blues. Life seems stale, routine and dull, too humdrum to be stood.

Slump In Stocks Worries Brokers; End Not Sighted

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "It's rough, very rough now," a leading Wall Street broker says of the stock market slump that has erased an estimated $100 billion from the value of stocks in the last two months.

The market Thursday suffered its worst beating in four consecutive days of decline and hit another 1969 low. It has been on the skids since reaching its 1969 high May 14.

"Once the slide gets going it sort of gathers momentum. There's no way to tell how far it will go," said the broker, Eldon A. Grimm, senior vice president of Walston & Co.

"There is a lot of cash on the sidelines but investors apparently are waiting to see when the market is going to hit rock bottom. The bottom will be made in the next two or three months. Then we will go into a fairly good bull market."

The market's retreat has been attributed to a variety of reasons. These include record interest rates, uncertainty about congressional action on extending the income surtax, apprehension about business prospects, disenchantment over the lack of substantial progress in the Vietnam peace talks and worry over the heating up of the Middle East situation.

When the market attained its 1969 high on May 14, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials stood at 968. It closed Thursday at 847.79 on a drop of 13.83 points for the day. The two-month loss is about 12 per cent.

Trading has been on a moderate scale during the decline. Many investors have switched into municipal bonds, which are yielding income of about 8 per cent against an average of 4 per cent for common stocks.

High interest rates are making it very costly for corporations to raise money. For example, Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co. sold $150 million of debentures Wednesday at a record interest cost of slightly more than 8 per cent.

The rise in interest rates to record levels was triggered by the Federal Reserve Board's clamping down on the amount of money available for lending to banks and increasing its interest rate in an effort to stem inflation. The banks, in turn, boosted rates.

"The market decline is something we have been anticipating for six months," said Harold Dorsey, chairman of Argus Research Corp., a New York investment advisory organization. "When you have tight money—one of the tightest situations this century—it's bound to have an effect on business."

"I say that there is nothing to tell how deep we are going to go. It's too early to define the depths of the valley or the breadth of the valley."

Legislature Report

By MYRL B. SHOEMAKER

State Representative

House activity dropped off somewhat this week after last week's long and furious work week to pass the budget for the general operations of state government and then approving a $1.6 billion education-tax package.

This week the House Health and Welfare Committee recommended passage by a 10-4 vote of a bill requiring the fluoridation of public water supplies in cities of 5,000 or more population. The proposal has already been approved by the Senate and House floor action is expected on the bill within the next two weeks.

The House Committee did make two important amendments to the bill before giving their approval. First was an amendment to allow a county to force a referendum on the issue of 10 percent of the electors who cast ballots in the last gubernatorial election sign petitions to hold such an election.

A second amendment was offered which would require the state to pay for the installation of the necessary equipment in the cities to fluoridate their water. The costs of installation of the equipment is unknown, but the committee believed it was unfair to pass unknown costs on to the local governments. This amendment was offered but defeated in the Senate.

Final approval for the

"Monday Holiday" bill came this week in the Senate, but not before it was defeated on the Senate floor, and then reconsidered the next day and passed by a 20-9 vote. The bill provides that four holidays will be observed on Mondays rather than on whatever day they fall during the week.

Under the bill, which the Governor is expected to sign into law, Veterans Day, Memorial Day, Columbus Day and Washington-Lincoln Day will be observed on Mondays.

Expectations for adjournment of this session of the 10th General Assembly is within the next two or three weeks. However, in this session particularly, nothing is certain.

The Senate still has to approve the educational budget, along with the additional taxes to support the increases for education. In addition, pay increases for state employees still must receive approval of both houses, and this is expected to be a controversial matter in both the Senate and House. Already the Senate has had a minor revolt on the bill in committee, and more problems are expected on the floor of the Senate.

In addition, a measure to implement the spending of the $759 million bond issue approved by the voters last fall has to be approved in both Houses. Division of this money for capital improvements has always caused some problems and is expected to do so this year.

By Gayla Spangler

The ninth meeting of the Walnut Stitches was held June 24. The meeting was called to order by president, Darlene Neff. Linda Sanderson gave the secretary's report and Kathy Noecker the treasurer's report. The roll call was answered by your favorite sport. Joyce Barr led the 4-H pledge.

The tour and picnic will be July 17. All members of the club who want to go should be at the Walnut School at 8:30 a.m. After the tour and picnic we will go to the Goldcliff swimming pool. You should bring a sack lunch.

Dianna Carpenter gave a health talk on grooming.

Plant Population Key To Higher Corn Production

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Looking for higher corn yields? Then consider plant stands. They are a very important factor in determining corn yields, says Larry Shepherd, Extension Agronomist at Ohio State University.

In 1968, corn stands averaged a little over 15,000 plants on Ohio farms and in 1969 they were over 17,000. This was the first noticeable jump in plant stands in the last five years.

"This is still 3,000 to 8,000 plants less than is recommended for most hybrids," Shepherd declares. "And this tends to reduce yield potential and profit in corn production on Ohio farms."

To check your plant stand, one simple way is to measure off the length of row equal to 1-1000 of an acre. Count the number of stalks and multiply by 1,000. Check several sections of row and take the average.

YOU can measure off 1-1000 of an acre as follows: for 40-inch rows, 13 feet 1 inch equals 1000 of an acre; for 30-inch rows, 17 feet 4 inches equals 1-1000 of an acre; and for 20-inch rows, 26 feet 2 inches equals 1-1000 of an acre.

For rows narrower than 40 inches, add 4 inches of length for each inch the row width is less than 40 inches.

For rows wider than 40 inches, subtract 4 inches of length for each inch the row width is more than 40 inches — this table is in the Ohio Agronomy Guide, available from your County Extension Office.

The important thing is to remember 13 feet 1 inch for 40-inch rows and adjust by 4 inches of length each 1 inch difference in width.

More than 300 hybrids are listed in the Agronomy Guide with their recommended plant stands for narrow and standard row width.

Some common problems in obtaining an adequate stand are suggested by the agronomist: The most important factor is not dropping enough seed in the first place. There is usually about a 15 per cent loss in emergence from the seed drop.

So the planter should be set to drop 10 to 20 per cent more seed than the desired stand.

Fit proper plate for the seed and check actual drop with the planter manual. Errors have been found as high as a 1-3 difference.

SPEED of travel is important for standard row widths. Drive not more than 4 miles per hour with 24 cell plates and 3 miles per hour with 16 cell plates.

Planting at the right depth was very important, both last year and this year. Corn planted more than 1½ inches

Lightning Ends Big Cattle Sale

ROME, Ga. (AP) — For more than 10 years Mrs. Denton S. McCluney of near Rome had been breeding a prize herd of Black Angus cattle. She finally had decided to sell the herd.

But the day before the auction lightning struck a tree in a pasture and killed 20 of the 26 animals.

Mrs. McCluney said the cattle were worth about $4,000.

deep in late April or early May could have problems in emerging because of thick crusts and below-normal temperatures.

Now is the time to check for injury from insects such as fleas, beetles, cut worms, grubs, wire worms, too, says Shepherd. This year he has seen fields with almost 100 per cent stand loss from wire worms — fields that had been in sod for several years.

How Weather Looks Today

The Adult Reading World

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Pickaway County Public Library offers a variety of books for summertime reading pleasure. A list of suggested books for adult reading will be reviewed weekly for The Herald by the library staff.

"Missouri Bittersweet" by MacKinlay Kantor. MacKinlay Kantor writes beautifully, whether he is telling of a Civil War prison camp or an Iowa Indian Uprising. In this lovely book he writes equally well of Missouri, a state which he obviously loves, though he is not native to it. Kantor and his wife Irene drove a leisurely path through Missouri, and Mr. Kantor mused as he went. Some chapters are descriptions of the places they visited. Like Silver Dollar City, where Curly Wolf and the sheriff shot up Curly's wife, right before their eyes. Some are historical reports, such as his picture of the Jesse James Legend. And there are accounts of friendships quickly made and firming up in a few hours of comradeship. As with Fetch, the undertaker. Mrs. Fetch and Irene talked with voices "Vying to demonstrate their enthusiasm on a given theme. It weaves in and out, a fugue of conversation." A highlight of the book is Kantor's imaginary address to a high school graduation class entitled: "These Uncanny Nineteen Sixties". Recommended for anyone who enjoys quality writing.

"A Place Called Saturday" by Mary Astor. Mary Astor moved gracefully—and successfully—from acting to writing. Now the author of several best sellers, she has established herself as being as competent in the field of letters as she was on the Hollywood screen. "A Place Called Saturday" is a fast moving, easily read story, though at times the plotting seems to be contrived. Her subject is a timely one—pregnancy resulting from a rape. A Tom Jones type coincidence offers a solution of sorts. One wishes Miss Astor had treated her theme in greater depth. Light reading.

Geoffrey Hindley. "Castles of Europe" is one of a series of books entitled "Great Buildings of the World." Here are depicted twelve famous castles and their environs. Each is shown in full color, as well as in numerous black and white photographs. Mr. Hindley discusses the building of each, its fortification, and something of the times in which it was prominent.

"The Tragedy of Lyndon Johnson" by Eric F. Goldman. Eric Goldman, historian, Princeton professor, was "Intellectual in Residence" at the White House for three years under Lyndon Johnson. Among his responsibilities were the quiet brain trust, the Commission on Presidential Scholars, and the White House Festival of the Arts. Though he was not involved in politics, Mr. Goldman had ample opportunity to observe Johnson and his wife. He is extremely kind, really chivalrous, toward Lady Bird. But he feels that Johnson, despite his great accomplishments as president, failed miserably short of his avowed goal. Because of the willingness to compromise, to horse trade, and because of the Bobby Baker case, which really hurt him, he lost public confidence. He simply could not achieve the respect and love of the American people. Right or wrong, they consider him first of all a wheeler-dealer.

Judy Dixon Wins National Essay Award

JUDY DIXON

Judy Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Dixon, Route 2, Ashville, was awarded 14th place in a national essay contest sponsored by the American Physicians and Surgeons Association recently.

"The Advantages of the American Free Enterprise" was the title of Miss Dixon's essay that won her first prize in Pickaway County for 10th, 11th, and 12th grade students.

The Teays Valley junior was the first student in the county to win a national prize.

The contest is sponsored annually by the Pickaway County Medical Society.

OU Receives Mead House

Mead Corporation made a presentation of property at 47 E. Fifth St. in Chillicothe to Ohio University-Chillicothe Friday.

The property, Mead's Staff House, was presented to Ohio University President Vernon Alden by George Pringle, retired president of Mead.

The 14-room furnished structure will be used by OU as additional facility to house visiting lecturers and distinguished guests.

The stately gray and white frame structure was the home of George Hunter Smith, wealthy banker-financier who also owned and summered at the present State Memorial Adena which he purchased from the Worthington family in 1903.

Mead Corporation purchased the Fifth Street residence in 1946. It was used to quarter visiting customers, dignitaries and out-of-town company officials as well as served as a location for meetings and conferences.

Swimming Pool Has Problems

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — In the long and short of it, the city-owned swimming pool in suburban Bedford came up with two problems in its first week of operation.

Long hair on boys brought a rule requiring those with hair as long as girls to wear bathing caps. An official said the pool filter was being clogged by long hair from boys, and girls "complained that they had to wear caps even though some of them had shorter hair than boys."

Earlier a city councilman objected to the short bikinis on girl lifeguards, saying the girls wouldn't know whether to save their bikinis or a person drowning.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States still has not decided on the "verification of compliance" procedures that will be required in any treaty with the Soviet Union on limiting strategic nuclear weapons, says a State Department spokesman.

"No decisions have been reached on what will be required. No fixed positions have been arrived at. That would depend on the terms of the agreement," press officer Robert J. McCloskey told newsmen Friday.

He was questioned about reports from Brussels that the U.S. had decided to drop a demand for the right of on-site inspections inside Russia in the projected new arms control negotiations.

A U.S. group has been consulting with representatives of allied nations at North Atlantic Treaty Organization headquarters at Brussels.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The full amount of money that former President Lyndon B. Johnson had sought for the space agency's budget should be approved by the Senate, says Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex.

Yarborough noted Friday that Nixon administration's budget calls for $45 million less than had been recommended by Johnson for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Nixon has asked for $3,715,527,000.

Yarborough said U.S. leadership in the exploration of space will be hampered by a reduction in the space agency's funds.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deep-diving submersible Trieste II is taking a new look at the wreckage of the submarine Scorpion, lost in May 1968 with a crew of 99.

The Trieste, operating deep in the Atlantic about 400 miles southwest of the Azores, will take photographs and check debris in a bid for new information which could help determine the cause of the sinking, the Navy said Friday.

Portions of the Scorpion's hull were located by deep water cameras last October.

expensive Swedish camera and a canister which chemically cleaned the air inside the spaceship.

Also to be left up there are the overshoes the astronauts wear while walking on the moon.

The items left behind cost the space agency millions of dollars but officials say the lunar littering is essential to the crew's safety.

The LM ascent stage must be lightened as much as possible to assure that Armstrong and Aldrin have enough fuel to get into moon orbit and return to the mother ship.

The decision to plant only the American flag came after pressure from some congressmen opposed to planting the flag of the United Nations.

Although only the American flag will remain, the astronauts will carry along in containers small flags of all the other countries in the United Nations or in U.N.-affiliated agencies.

They will remain in the LM. These flags will be envelope-sized and will include those of Russia and Cuba.

There will also be small flags for each of the 50 states, each U.S. territory and the District of Columbia.

Two other full-sized U.S. flags will be carried to the moon but not unfurled. These will be returned and presented to the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives.

Postmaster
Pleads Guilty
To Embezzlement

Former Amanda Postmaster Donald Edward Hickman pleaded guilty to embezzlement of mail when arraigned Friday in U. S. District Court, Columbus.

Postal inspectors told the court a letter to Father Flanagan's Boys' Town, Neb., had been placed in an Amanda collection box but failed to show up in a later check of mail taken from the box.

They said Hickman, when questioned, took the unopened letter from his pocket and returned it to them. They said Hickman confessed to taking 15 other pieces of similar mail.

Indict 15 For Prison Brutality

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A federal grand jury has charged 15 persons with brutal treatment of inmates in four Arkansas penal institutions.

It returned 46 indictments Friday, charging that the defendants, "under color of law," willfully imposed summary punishment on one or more inmates, depriving them of their constitutional rights.

Jim Bruton, former superintendent of the Tucker Prison Farm unit of the state penitentiary, was named in 19 of the 39 indictments that charged former employees and trusty guards with brutality at Tucker from 1964 through 1966.

Bruton was charged with punishing inmates or causing them to be punished by electrical shocks, whippings with a leather strap and the use of such objects as pliers and hypodermic needles.

The other indictments were against prison employees, other former employees or trusty guards in the state penitentiary and at penal farms in Pulaski and Mississippi counties.

Gary L. Haydis, former assistant superintendent of Cummins Prison Farm, and two Cummins employees, Lawrence E. Hudson and G. W. Thompson, were indicted as a result of

Domestic Employee Wages Should Be Reported

Do you employ a cleaning woman or a full-time babysitter? If you do, her work is probably covered by social security and you should be reporting the wages and paying the social security tax.

Robert M. Martin, manager of the Chillicothe social security office said today that the proper reporting of domestic workers continues to be a major problem for the Social Security Administration and the Internal Revenue Service.

You are considered to be a domestic employee if you hire someone to do housework or babysitting in or about your private household. In addition to cleaning women and babysitters, domestic workers also include gardeners, maids, cooks and other household employees. If you pay the domestic worker $50 or more in a calendar quarter, Mr. Martin explained, you are required by Federal law to report the wages to the Internal Revenue Service and to pay the social security tax. If you do not report the wages, you could be liable for back taxes due, plus interest and penalties for several years, depending upon how long the failure to report has continued.

You may not believe that you owe your domestic enough to be subject to the social security tax. Actually wages as low as $5 a week would be covered by social security because this would amount to over $50 in a calendar quarter. Sometimes a domestic worker may tell you that she will report her wages as self-employment. This would be incorrect because domestic workers are considered by law to be employees. Or a domestic worker may say that she does not want the social security tax deducted from her wages.

An employer sometimes pays the entire tax due where small amounts are involved. The social security tax rate for 1969 is 4.8 per cent each for the employer and the employee, but you can pay the entire 9.6 per cent if this would be an expedient and an acceptable arrangement.

Martin explained that you are doing a disservice to both yourself and your employee if you do not report her wages. You are doing a disservice to yourself because you eventually may end up paying substantially more in taxes and penalties. Nationally, last year over 35,000 employers of domestic workers found themselves in this situation. You also may be depriving your employee, and any dependents, of monthly benefits which otherwise would be payable. This should be more than enough reason to comply with the law.

Indict 15 For Prison Brutality

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A federal grand jury has charged 15 persons with brutal treatment of inmates in four Arkansas penal institutions.

It returned 46 indictments Friday, charging that the defendants, "under color of law," willfully imposed summary punishment on one or more inmates, depriving them of their constitutional rights.

Jim Bruton, former superintendent of the Tucker Prison Farm unit of the state penitentiary, was named in 19 of the 39 indictments that charged former employees and trusty guards with brutality at Tucker from 1964 through 1966.

Bruton was charged with punishing inmates or causing them to be punished by electrical shocks, whippings with a leather strap and the use of such objects as pliers and hypodermic needles.

The other indictments were against prison employees, other former employees or trusty guards in the state penitentiary and at penal farms in Pulaski and Mississippi counties.

Gary L. Haydis, former assistant superintendent of Cummins Prison Farm, and two Cummins employees, Lawrence E. Hudson and G. W. Thompson, were indicted as a result of

Domestic Employee Wages Should Be Reported

Do you employ a cleaning woman or a full-time babysitter? If you do, her work is probably covered by social security and you should be reporting the wages and paying the social security tax.

Robert M. Martin, manager of the Chillicothe social security office said today that the proper reporting of domestic workers continues to be a major problem for the Social Security Administration and the Internal Revenue Service.

You are considered to be a domestic employee if you hire someone to do housework or babysitting in or about your private household. In addition to cleaning women and babysitters, domestic workers also include gardeners, maids, cooks and other household employees. If you pay the domestic worker $50 or more in a calendar quarter, Mr. Martin explained, you are required by Federal law to report the wages to the Internal Revenue Service and to pay the social security tax. If you do not report the wages, you could be liable for back taxes due, plus interest and penalties for several years, depending upon how long the failure to report has continued.

You may not believe that you owe your domestic enough to be subject to the social security tax. Actually wages as low as $5 a week would be covered by social security because this would amount to over $50 in a calendar quarter. Sometimes a domestic worker may tell you that she will report her wages as self-employment. This would be incorrect because domestic workers are considered by law to be employees. Or a domestic worker may say that she does not want the social security tax deducted from her wages.

An employer sometimes pays the entire tax due where small amounts are involved. The social security tax rate for 1969 is 4.8 per cent each for the employer and the employee, but you can pay the entire 9.6 per cent if this would be an expedient and an acceptable arrangement.

Martin explained that you are doing a disservice to both yourself and your employee if you do not report her wages. You are doing a disservice to yourself because you eventually may end up paying substantially more in taxes and penalties. Nationally, last year over 35,000 employers of domestic workers found themselves in this situation. You also may be depriving your employee, and any dependents, of monthly benefits which otherwise would be payable. This should be more than enough reason to comply with the law.

The Vanishing Eagle

The bald eagle, symbol of America's strength and vigilance, is making news once again and again the news isn't good. Ornithologists have noted the eagle's dwindling numbers and fear that it is headed for extinction. Various reasons are advanced for its decline.

Some hold the eagle is losing its fertility because of the heavy use of insecticides in marshy areas where it feeds. Other point to storms which topple its lofty nests, to the guns of hunters who flout protection laws, to the steady encroachment of building developments which deprive it of its natural and lonely habitat.

The eagle apparently has trouble living in man's environment. And, regrettable as this is, it should not be surprising in view of the increasing difficulty man has living with himself.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — If present trends continue, the annual sales of bicycles in the United States will match automobile sales in a couple of years, and therein lies a surprising story of social change and marketing innovation.

Almost anyone could guess that bikes were rising in popularity, after seeing once sluggish neighbors pedaling rather than driving to the station and flocks of youngsters winging along in multicolored "high risers."

The sales figures are probably a bit higher than your guesses.

As recently as 1960, about 3.6 million bikes were sold. By 1967 the figure had leaped to 6 million. It surged to 7.5 million last year and is expected to rise 12 per cent to 8.4 million in 1969.

The swing to bikes has at least two origins: old age and youth.

Dr. Paul Dudley White and others promoted the idea that pedaling was a wonderful form of exercise even for the elderly, and now thousands of miles of paths are appearing in cities that long had ignored the needs of cyclists.

A larger thrust, however, seems to have come from the youngsters. Seven years ago the partners in a San Diego bike shop observed teenagers buying odd parts and improvising their own vehicles.

Recognizing that the demand was there, the partners, Gene Bandel and Marion Moore, assembled some bikes with high handlebars, elevated and elongated "banana" seats, and low-to-the-ground chassis. They sold swiftly.

Later on the major bike makers, long accustomed to turning out the same conventional product each year, caught on to the idea: youngsters wanted styling; they wanted innovation; they looked forward to new models each year; they desired options.

Wild options now are available, including pretzel handlebars, steering wheels instead of bars, multispeed gear shifts, front and rear shock absorbers, caliper hand brakes, console stick shifts and quilted backrests.

The most popular bike in America now is the high riser. That's the one with the high handlebars, elevated seat, back support or "sissy bar," and small wheels that make for maneuverability. It accounts for 75 per cent of sales.

However, for the adult who fears a fall, a tri-wheeler also is selling well. This is a conventional vehicle in most ways except for double wheels in the rear, along with a basket for carrying groceries or a brief case.

All this has begun to push up prices, of course. A high riser costs a minimum of about $35, and the addition of accessories can push up the price to $80 or so—even more if exotic parts are piled on.

And, as any product becomes more complex, so also does the servicing. As many fathers have learned in recent months, it can be a maddening job to change a tire when the gear box and torsion spring seat suspension are in the way.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor: People generally seem to be concerned about all of the problems of today. We often hear the question, "What has happened to this younger generation?"

We say we have tried to teach them right but they have gotten the wrong influence in the schools or somewhere. So we excuse ourselves by using the old standby—the scapegoat.

He takes the blame for all our failures. Have we forgotten, or did we not know, "Thus saith the Lord, the heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked, who can know it?" We need to have changed hearts.

This is why we have problems even in little league baseball. The sport, fun, and benefit the kids receive is ruined by adults who war with each other.

The profanity used would be bad enough on skid row. I am a fan and feel that enthusiasm and excitement is part of the game, even some mild protests. It surely is no place for fights, foul language, or disregard for the feelings and rights of others. I am not saying this to any specific individuals but that we might all learn an unending law found in Proverbs 22:6.

Many of the boys are good friends even if they are real rivals in the game. I never see any kid mad at another and all is well between them.

This reminds me of a scripture, "Except we become as a little child we shall in no wise enter into the kingdom of heaven." I don't think this reference is to older children that have already taken on the characteristics of their unregenerate parents.

Before we blame a younger generation maybe we should look to see what help we have contributed by our lives and actions. It is not so important who won or lost but how we played the game.

New York City Is Embarrassment To Demo Party

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York City's tangled political situation, already a Republican headache, is producing a bit of embarrassment for national Democrats, too.

Democratic National Chairman Fred R. Harris has chosen so far to avoid endorsing his party's nominee for mayor of New York City, Mario A. Proccacio.

"I don't intend as of now to get involved in the New York race," Harris said Thursday. He did get involved in an earlier mayoral contest, that in Los Angeles.

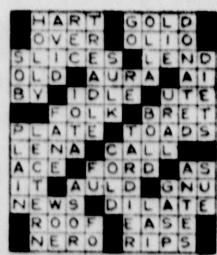

In that race, officially non-partisan, the party chairman gave his personal endorsement to Thomas Bradley, the Negro city councilman who ultimately was defeated by Mayor Samuel Yorty.

Try and Stop Me

A MOTORIST was tooting along the Pennsylvania Turnpike when he suddenly ran into an almost impenetrable fog. Finally, he made out a sign ahead, and got out of his and struck a match to read it.

It was a familiar picture—and the caption read, "Smoking the Bear Says Put Out That Match!"

In his new book, "The Game of Baseball," Gil Hodges, Met manager and enormously popular ex-Dodger first sacker, tells about one of the most confusing days of his life. First, his Dodgers won a key World Series contest, 2 to 0—and it was Gil who batted in the only two runs. Then he came home expecting a royal welcome from his son, Gil, Jr., then aged 5.

Gil, Jr., however, was watching TV. His only comment when his father entered the room was, "Gee, Daddy, you just missed Captain Midnight."

The editor of a popular fashion magazine contended recently that a sense of style was inborn. "As proof," she continued, "I could show you apprentice girls on my staff who haven't got the brains of a button—but turn them loose at the fashion previews and they come back with the best hat or shoes or dress of the season. They SMELL what's good and it has absolutely nothing to do with intelligence."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

One of the dangers of long illnesses, is the possibility of developing painful bed sores. Doctors and nurses are constantly on the lookout for the red areas around the hips, the heels and the elbows that mean pressure is being exerted at those spots. Such areas can be protected with foam rubber padding but even this can be ineffective in the elderly who are confined to bed for long periods of time.

A new air-suspended bed was created for the victims of severe burns and has been used successfully to relieve pressure sores and to prevent them in patients who are expected to be in bed for a long time.

One such bed type has been in use in England for a number of years. Another was designed by an engineer working in cooperation with the surgical department of the Medical College of South Carolina. By a very involved method the patient actually is made to lie on a bed of air which completely protects tender portions of the body and prevents development of bed sores or ulcers that can be so devastating to the chronically sick. It has had great success in healing bed sores that failed to respond to ordinary methods at our disposal.

Painful whiplash to the neck, painful arthritis of the spine of the neck and a variety of other neck conditions may occasionally need traction for the relief of pain and to promote healing.

It is not always feasible for the patient to be admitted to the hospital for simple traction, especially in these days when beds are at a premium. Homemade devices are only fair and are difficult to make.

I was delighted, therefore, when I came across an uncomplicated but effective device which can be attached to a door frame and which can hold the neck firmly and give the traction. This excellent home device is manufactured by an Indiana firm. It should under no circumstances be used without specific directions from the doctor. He can regulate the counterweight and suggest the time and frequency with which this home traction should be used.

Many exciting studies are in progress to combat one of L-Dopa, a remarkable drug has been tried with moderate success in carefully selected cases. Studies continue in an effort to find a maximum solution to this debilitating disease. A new drug has been added to those already tried. It is known as Amantadine hydrochloride and when used in a series of carefully chosen cases, has been responsible for reducing the rigidity and tremor associated with this condition.

As with all new drugs, this one will be carefully studied for its side effects before being released for general use.

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you caught in the summer doldrums?

Many people are. They have come down with the hot weather blues. Life seems stale, routine and dull, too humdrum to be stood.

"Nothing seems worth doing," they say.

That's nonsense. There always are a number of things worth doing. If nothing else, you can write down a list of fairly odd daydreams and try to make a few of them come true.

For example, you might—Take a correspondence course in sky writing.

Get a part-time job as a human fly.

Count the contents of a can of peas.

Become the donor for the first human freckle transplant.

Listen for the crack of doom. Sing a bawdy song at your next PTA meeting.

Read City Hall. Adopt a baby dolphin and keep it in your bathtub.

Champ at a bit.

Paste your own portrait among the photos of the "ten most wanted criminals" in your local post office and see how long it is before you're caught.

Take a ride through a sewer in a glass-bottomed boat. Run away from home with your baby sister's mother.

Learn Esperanto.

Go on a diet of hard tack.

Write a new old folk song.

Try to whistle Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata."

Memorize a poem by Allen Ginsberg backwards.

Deal a watermelon.

Write a long fan letter to the lonely old guy nobody remembers in midsummer—Santa Claus.

Try to teach an old dog at least one new trick.

Tattoo your wife.

Go down in the basement and see if you can make a batch of home brew as good as your grandpa made during prohibition.

Find a wonder drug that will cure all the ailments that other wonder drugs now cause. As a last resort, you can get rid of your summer boredom—and surprise everybody in your office—by buckling down and doing an honest day's work. That, of course, is an extreme measure and one not to be tried except with the advice and consent of your physician.

Slump In Stocks Worries Brokers; End Not Sighted

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "It's rough, very rough now," a leading Wall Street broker says of the stock market slump that has erased an estimated $100 billion from the value of stocks in the last two months.

The market Thursday suffered its worst beating in four consecutive days of decline and hit another 1969 low. It has been on the skids since reaching its 1969 high May 14.

"Once the slide gets going it sort of gathers momentum. There's no way to tell how far it will go," said the broker, Eldon A. Grimm, senior vice president of Walston & Co.

"There is a lot of cash on the sidelines but investors apparently are waiting to see when the market is going to hit rock bottom. The bottom will be made in the next two or three months. Then we will go into a fairly good bull market."

The market's retreat has been attributed to a variety of reasons. These include record interest rates, uncertainty about congressional action on extending the income surtax, apprehension about business prospects, disenchantment over the lack of substantial progress in the Vietnam peace talks and worry over the heating up of the Middle East situation.

When the market attained its 1969 high on May 14, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials stood at 968. It closed Thursday at 847.79 on a drop of 13.83 points for the day. The two-month loss is about 12 per cent.

Trading has been on a moderate scale during the decline. Many investors have switched into municipal bonds, which are yielding income of about 8 per cent against an average of 4 per cent for common stocks.

High interest rates are making it very costly for corporations to raise money. For example, Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co. sold $150 million of debentures Wednesday at a record interest cost of slightly more than 8 per cent.

The rise in interest rates to record levels was triggered by the Federal Reserve Board's clamping down on the amount of money available for lending to banks and increasing its interest rate in an effort to stem inflation. The banks, in turn, boosted rates.

"The market decline is something we have been anticipating for six months," said Harold Dorsey, chairman of Argus Research Corp., a New York investment advisory organization. "When you have tight money—one of the tightest situations this century—it's bound to have an effect on business."

"I say that there is nothing to tell how deep we are going to go. It's too early to define the depths of the valley or the breadth of the valley."

U.S. Watches Soviet Ships

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Additional U.S. reconnaissance planes have joined the surveillance of a Soviet task force moving slowly and boldly toward Cuba in an unprecedented show of the Soviet flag.

A Navy spokesman said Friday aircraft from the attack carrier Independence moved in to the shadowing operation that already included the U.S. radar picket ship Thomas J. Gary and planes from bases in Maryland and Maine.

The spokesman said the eight Soviet ships were about 260 miles southeast of Jacksonville at midmorning, moving in a southwesterly direction.

This position would be less than 600 miles from Cuba where the task force is expected July 20.

The USS Independence was about 80 miles from Jacksonville on a previously scheduled training mission. Its aircraft include Vigilante jet reconnaissance planes with two crewmen each and radar-domed Hawk eyes, propeller-driven planes carrying five-man crews.

There are 22 producers of synthetic rubber in the U.S. today. Approximately 61 per cent of the synthetic rubber produced is consumed by auto tires with the other 39 per cent going into such major rubber uses as conveyor belting, housing and cushioning, according to the International Institute of Synthetic Rubber Producers.

Legislature Report

By MYRL H. SHOEMAKER
State Representative

House activity dropped off somewhat this week after last week's long and furious work week to pass the budget for the general operations of state government and then approving a $1.6 billion education-tax package.

This week the House Health and Welfare Committee recommended passage by a 10-4 vote of a bill requiring the fluoridation of public water supplies in cities of 5,000 or more population. The proposal has already been approved by the Senate and House floor action is expected on the bill within the next two weeks.

The House Committee did make two important amendments to the bill before giving their approval. First was an amendment to allow a county to force a referendum on the issue of 10 percent of the electors who cast ballots in the last gubernatorial election sign petitions to hold such an election. A second amendment was offered which would require the state to pay for the installation of the necessary equipment in the cities to fluoridate their water. The costs of installation of the equipment is unknown, but the committee believed it was unfair to pass unknown costs on to the local governments. This amendment was offered but defeated in the Senate.

Final approval for the

"Monday Holiday" bill came this week in the Senate, but not before it was defeated on the Senate floor, and then reconsidered the next day and passed by a 20-9 vote. The bill provides that four holidays will be observed on Mondays rather than on whatever day they fall during the week.

Under the bill, which the Governor is expected to sign into law, Veterans Day, Memorial Day, Columbus Day and Washington-Lincoln Day will be observed on Mondays.

Expectations for adjournment of this session of the 10th General Assembly is within the next two or three weeks. However, in this session particularly, nothing is certain.

The Senate still has to approve the educational budget, along with the additional taxes to support the increases for education. In addition, pay increases for state employees still must receive approval of both houses, and this is expected to be a controversial matter in both the Senate and House. Already the Senate had a minor revolt on the bill in committee, and more problems are expected on the floor of the Senate.

In addition, a measure to implement the spending of the $759 million bond issue approved by the voters last fall has to be approved in both Houses. Division of this money for capital improvements has always caused some problems and is expected to do so this year.

Books Donated To Library

A gift of ten books on horticulture, conservation and flower arranging has been made to the Pickaway County Public Library in memory of Mrs. George Huskey.

Funds to purchase the books were given by friends, formerly of Circleville, now residing in Luxembourg, naming the Pickaway County Garden Club to make the presentation as Mrs. Huskey was a member of the club.

Selection of the books was made by Mrs. John Eshelman. Some have been received and others will soon be available to the public. The books are "Cactus Guide" by Cutak, "Field Guide To Wild Flowers" by Peterson, "Holiday Flower Arranging" by Cyphers, "How To Plan And Plant Your Own Property" by A. B. Ireys, "The Junior Garden Club Handbook" by the National Council, "To Those Who See" by Gwen Erosic, "Flower Arrangement Designs For Today" by Wilson, "Weathered Wood With Flowers" by Knight, "Flowers And Furniture In America's Historic Homes" by Finch, and "Flowers and Symbols For The Christian Year" by Mullins.

Church Circle Has Program On Bolivia

Mrs. Arthur Bowman discussed the need of Christian education in Bolivia during the Thursday evening meeting of Circle 4 of the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church.

The meeting, held in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Crabtree, 511 Mowrer Road, was presided over by Mrs. LeRoy Thomas, leader. She read "My Daily Prayer" and Mrs. Crabtree presented prayer.

It was announced that the projects for the bazaar at the Pumpkin Show are being completed.

Secretary of spiritual life, Miss Lucille Kirkwood, urged using the prayer calendars. She requested prayer for the Camp Meeting and Youth Night when Rex Kern will be the speaker.

Mrs. Bowman told of a young missionary minister in Bolivia and by tape presented an account of his problems and ways he is trying to solve them. He said that they gathered together on Monday and scattered to carry to others on Sunday what they had learned.

Members sang "Lord Speak To Me" and closed the session with prayer.

Refreshments were served to the 12 members present by the hostess. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Clara DeLong, 118 Seyfert Ave., with Mrs. Montford Kirkwood Jr. as leader.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Mom's Family Doesn't Fit In?

DEAR ABBY: Our son just came home from Vietnam and announced his engagement to a girl he went with before he went away. She comes from high society people.

Her mother asked me for a list of people on our side we wanted invited to the wedding. My problem is we have a lot of relatives we never see except at weddings and funerals and some of them wouldn't fit in very well with such high-class folks. Also, this is going to be a dress-up type church wedding, and I hate to put some of them on the spot to spend all that money getting dressed up just for that one day.

Is there some way I can invite those who can afford it and will fit in, and leave the others out? I hate to hurt any feelings.

SAN ANTONIO
DEAR SAN: Invite them all, and those who want to come will find a way to cut the mustard. Everyone has some relatives who won't "fit in." But don't worry, there will be plenty on the other side who won't fit in either, and they'll fit nicely with your misfits.

DEAR ABBY: I am 11 years old and I am ashamed of my mother. She tells the biggest lies, and she gossips a lot on the telephone. She will talk to one lady and pretend to be her best friend, when she is really her worst enemy. How can a person be so two-faced and evil and then tell me if I tell a lie God will punish me?

CHARLOTTE, N.C.
DEAR CHARLOTTE: Do as your mother SAYS, not as she does. Honey. Perhaps your mother will read this and realize that while "example" is not the only teacher, it is one of the most powerful.

DEAR ABBY: I have been asked to be a bridesmaid and am very excited about it, but I am also worried. You see, I want very much for my boyfriend to be invited to this wedding, and so far my girlfriend (the bride) hasn't said anything about it.

The invitations haven't gone out as yet so I don't know whether she plans to invite my boyfriend or not, but I am praying she is.

Is there some subtle way I can find out? And if she isn't planning on having my boyfriend, how can I get him invited without seeming bold?

BRIDESMAID
DEAR BRIDESMAID: A bride asks her closest friends to be her bridesmaids, and obviously you are one of hers, so come right out and TELL her that you hope she doesn't overlook your friend.

DEAR ABBY: My husband was married briefly before he married me. I understand he was very much in love with his first wife who left him for another man.

We married after a short courtship and now we have one child. I love him with all my heart, and I know he loves me, but he insists on doing something that is eating away at my heart.

Whenever we meet new friends, he always finds a way to mention to them that he was married before. Why does he do this? Is he proud of the fact? It was such a short marriage, and they had no children. I don't see why it is necessary to even bring it up.

If you can explain why he does this, you will be helping me tremendously. Thank you.

HURT
DEAR HURT: Only your husband can answer that question. Ask him. And while you are on the subject ask him for one small favor. To keep quiet about it in the future.

Eliminate Gun In 2 Slayings

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Ballistic tests have failed to show a link in the shooting death of University of Michigan graduate student Margaret Phillips and that of two other coeds, authorities said Friday.

Tests on a .22-caliber semiautomatic weapon recovered from the Huron River proved positively it was the weapon used to slay Miss Phillips a week ago, Washtenaw County Prosecutor William F. Delhey said.

The weapon was definitely eliminated Friday in the shooting deaths of two other Michigan coeds, Jane Mixer and Alice E. Kalom this year, he said. Four other young women have been slain—but not with a gun—in the area within two years.

Ernest Bishop Jr., 28, an ex-convict, has been ordered to stand trial on first-degree murder charges in Miss Phillips' death.

Judy Dixon Wins National Essay Award

JUDY DIXON

Judy Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Dixon, Route 2, Ashville, was awarded 14th place in a national essay contest sponsored by the American Physicians and Surgeons Association recently.

"The Advantages of the American Free Enterprise" was the title of Miss Dixon's essay that won her first prize in Pickaway County for 10th, 11th, and 12th grade students.

The Teays Valley junior was the first student in the county to win a national prize.

The contest is sponsored annually by the Pickaway County Medical Society.

OU Receives Mead House

Mead Corporation made a presentation of property at 47 E. Fifth St. in Chillicothe to Ohio University-Chillicothe Friday.

The property, Mead's Staff House, was presented to Ohio University President Vernon Alden by George Pringle, retired president of Mead.

The 14-room furnished structure will be used by OU as additional facility to house visiting lecturers and distinguished guests.

The stately gray and white frame structure was the home of George Hunter Smith, wealthy banker-financier who also owned and summered at the present State Memorial Adena which he purchased from the Worthington family in 1903.

Mead Corporation purchased the Fifth Street residence in 1946. It was used to quarter visiting customers, dignitaries and out-of-town company officials as well as served as a location for meetings and conferences.

Swimming Pool Has Problems

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — In the long and short of it, the city-owned swimming pool in suburban Bedford came up with two problems in its first week of operation.

Long hair on boys brought a rule requiring those with hair as long as girls to wear bathing caps. An official said the pool filter was being clogged by long hair from boys, and girls "complained that they had to wear caps even though some of them had shorter hair than boys."

Earlier a city councilman objected to the short bikinis on girl lifeguards, saying the girls wouldn't know whether to save their bikinis or a person drowning.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States still has not decided on the "verification of compliance" procedures that will be required in any treaty with the Soviet Union on limiting strategic nuclear weapons, says a State Department spokesman.

"No decisions have been reached on what will be required. No fixed positions have been arrived at. That would depend on the terms of the agreement," press officer Robert J. McCloskey told newsmen Friday.

He was questioned about reports from Brussels that the U.S. had decided to drop a demand for the right of on-site inspections inside Russia in the projected new arms control negotiations.

A U.S. group has been consulting with representatives of allied nations at North Atlantic Treaty Organization headquarters at Brussels.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The full amount of money that former President Lyndon B. Johnson had sought for the space agency's budget should be approved by the Senate, says Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex.

Yarborough noted Friday that Nixon administration's budget calls for $45 million less than had been recommended by Johnson for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Nixon has asked for $3.715-527.000.

Yarborough said U.S. leadership in the exploration of space will be hampered by a reduction in the space agency's funds.

Farm Bureau Study Unit Slates Meet

Evaluation of surveys made with county Farm Bureau boards to keep Farm Bureau strong and effective, will be a subject for discussion by the Organization Study Committee when it meets July 16 at the Farm Bureau office building in Columbus, C. William Swank, executive vice president of the state organization said today.

The committee is made up of 20 Ohio farm leaders, representing all sections of the state and is examining the Farm Bureau and will make recommendations for its future development, he said. Members from Pickaway County are Harold Kilhard, Ashville, and John Stevenson, Route 2.

"With the changing structure in Ohio agriculture, we must now provide programs for fewer full time farmers, who manage much larger operations," he said. "There are also more part time farmers who find themselves in a tight economic squeeze."

"Also," he stated, "we must be concerned with the many non-farm rural residents who are voiceless in many matters important to them."

He indicated that these groups and their needs are the major questions the Organization Study Committee will deal with.

The committee met for the first time on April 15, 1969.

Car Fire Doused

The Circleville Fire Department answered one call last night.

Firemen were called to 136 East Main at 6:20 p.m. to douse a car fire caused by a short in the wiring.

The car was owned by Dennis Woods, 225 Watt Street.

Astronauts ... Indict 15 For Prison Brutality

expensive Swedish camera and a canister which chemically cleaned the air inside the spaceship.

Also to be left up there are the overshoes the astronauts wear while walking on the moon.

The items left behind cost the space agency millions of dollars but officials say the lunar littering is essential to the crew's safety.

The LM ascent stage must be lightened as much as possible to assure that Armstrong and Aldrin have enough fuel to get into moon orbit and return to the mother ship.

The decision to plant only the American flag came after pressure from some congressmen opposed to planting the flag of the United Nations.

Although only the American flag will remain, the astronauts will carry along in containers small flags of all the other countries in the United Nations or in U.N.-affiliated agencies. They will remain in the LM.

These flags will be enveloped and will include those of Russia and Cuba.

There will also be small flags for each of the 50 states, each U.S. territory and the District of Columbia.

Two other full-sized U.S. flags will be carried to the moon but not unfurled. These will be returned and presented to the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives.

Postmaster Pleads Guilty To Embezzlement

Former Amanda Postmaster Donald Edward Hickman pleaded guilty to embezzlement of mail when arraigned Friday in U. S. District Court, Columbus.

Postal inspectors told the court a letter to Father Flanagan's Boys' Town, Neb. had been placed in an Amanda collection box but failed to show up in a later check of mail taken from the box.

They said Hickman, when questioned, took the unopened letter from his pocket and returned it to them. They said Hickman confessed to taking 15 other pieces of similar mail.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A federal grand jury has charged 15 persons with brutal treatment of inmates in four Arkansas penal institutions.

It returned 46 indictments Friday, charging that the defendants, "under color of law," willfully imposed summary punishment on one or more inmates, depriving them of their constitutional rights.

Jim Bruton, former superintendent of the Tucker Prison Farm unit of the state penitentiary, was named in 19 of the 39 indictments that charged former employees and trusty guards with brutality at Tucker

Domestic Employee Wages Should Be Reported

Do you employ a cleaning woman or a full-time babysitter? If you do, her work is probably covered by social security and you should be reporting the wages and paying the social security tax.

Robert M. Martin, manager of the Chillicothe social security office said today that the proper reporting of domestic workers continues to be a major problem for the Social Security Administration and the Internal Revenue Service.

You are considered to be a domestic employer if you hire someone to do housework or babysitting in or about your private household. In addition to cleaning women and babysitters, domestic workers also include gardeners, maids, cooks and other household employees. If you pay the domestic worker $50 or more in a calendar quarter, Mr. Martin explained you are required by Federal law to report the wages to the Internal Revenue Service and to pay the social security tax. If you do not report the wages, you could be liable for back taxes due, plus interest and penalties for several years, depending upon how long the failure to report has continued.

You may not believe that you are your domestic enough to be subject to the social security tax. Actually wages as low as $5 a week would be covered by social security because this would amount to over $50 in a calendar quarter. Sometimes a domestic worker may tell you that she will report her wages as self-employment. This would be incorrect because domestic workers are considered by law to be employees. Or a domestic worker may say that she does not want the social security tax deducted from her wages.

An employer sometimes pays the entire tax due where small amounts are involved. The social security tax rate for 1969 is 4.8 per cent each for the employer and the employee, but you can pay the entire 9.6 per cent, if this would be an expedient, and an acceptable arrangement.

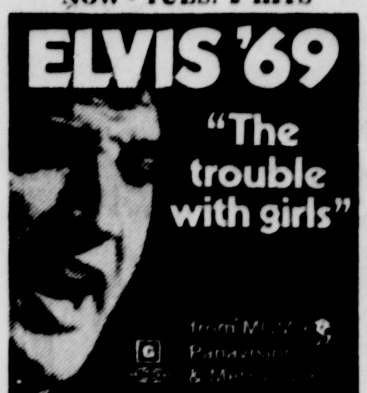

Martin explained that you are doing a disservice to both yourself and your employee if you do not report her wages. You are doing a disservice to yourself because you eventually may end up paying substantially more in taxes and penalties. Nationally, last year over 35,000 employers of domestic workers found themselves in this situation. You also may be depriving your employee, and any dependents, of monthly benefits which otherwise would be payable. This should be more than enough reason to comply with the law.

Bruton was charged with punishing inmates or causing them to be punished by electrical shocks, whippings with a leather strap and the use of such objects as pliers and hypodermic needles.

The other indictments were against prison employees, other former employees or trusty guards in the state penitentiary and at penal farms in Pulaski and Mississippi counties.

Gary L. Haydis, former assistant superintendent of Cummins Prison Farm, and two Cummins employees, Lawrence E. Hudson and G. W. Thompson, were indicted as a result of an incident last Oct. 14 in which guards fired birdshot into about 100 inmates who refused to stop a sit-down strike. Twenty-four convicts were wounded.

Cummins, which with Tucker forms the state penitentiary, was the site of the discovery earlier in 1968 of three skeletons in unmarked graves. Inmates and former Prison Supt. Thomas O. Murton claimed that they were the skeletons of murdered convicts, but a pathologist later said the three probably died of natural causes.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller told a news conference after the announcement of the grand jury action: "I am really very pleased that at the end of 30 months of my administration and after some persistent efforts on our part to get some action taken, federal authorities have seen fit to issue some indictments."

Judge J. Smith Henley of U.S. District Court called the grand jury into session Tuesday at the request of the Justice Department, which investigated the penitentiary after the October shooting.

Bruton resigned as Tucker superintendent in 1966 shortly before a state police investigation of the farm uncovered inmate allegations of brutality, torture and illegal traffic in liquor and drugs.

Bruton later was charged in state court with excessive punishment of inmates, but the Arkansas law on which the charge was based was declared unconstitutional and the charge was dropped.

The grand jury took testimony from inmates who testified about whippings with a leather strap and about the "Tucker telephone," a device used to send an electrical charge into convicts. Use of the strap was stopped by the state Board of Correction in February 1966 and later was declared unconstitutional. Use of the "Tucker telephone" was stopped as a result of the 1966 state police investigation.

PPG will play Macs in a Mosquito League tilt, 1 p.m. Saturday July 19, on the Ted Lewis Little League diamond; Hills will play Barnhills, 10 a.m. Saturday July 19, on the Atwater diamond in a Mosquito League tilt; Haps will play FOPA in a Mosquito League tilt, 10 a.m. Saturday, July 19, on the South Court St. diamond.

IN games that are scheduled today, but cancelled due to a wet field, Elks will play Purina Tuesday in a Little League major tilt 6 p.m. on the Fairgrounds diamond 1.

A hit-batsman and a pair of doubles provided Steve Marshall with all the support he needed as Washington squeezed Pickaway 2-1 Friday in Tri County Little League major action.

Marshall has won five straight games in leading Washington to a perfect 7-0 mark for the year. Friday he fanned nine and allowed five hits.

Washington scored both runs in the third inning. Scott Weaver reached first base when he was hit by a pitched ball. Scott Allen's double advanced him to third base and Willie Clifton's double scored both boys.

Scott Pontious suffered the loss for Pickaway, allowing only four hits and fanning nine batters.

"I think we just started putting everything together," said Astro Denis Menke who batted out a double and a triple and four RBIs.

Continuing to explain how he felt the Astros have awakened, he said, "We started getting a hit with a man on—which we hadn't been doing before. This is one ball club that didn't quit."

Sharing batting honors with him were Jimmy Wynn with three singles and Doug Rader got his sixth homer of the season.

Rader started the big sixth inning with a walk and Wilson was hit by a pitch for the second time. Sandy Valdespino singled for one run and Joe Morgan followed with another single for another. Then Wynn's third hit brought two more across.

Two walks loaded the bases and Menke tripled for three runs. Singles by John Edwards and Valdespino brought two more in.

Houston went on to finish out their 14-hit attack compared to six for the Reds.

Lowly Montreal Bombs Stunned Mets, 11-4

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
The New York Mets and the Chicago Cubs started a brief breather from each other ... and wound up gasping.

The Los Angeles Dodgers ran into Bobby Bonds ... and wound up second.

The Mets, who took two of three games from the Cubs in New York this week, were stunned 11-4 by lowly Montreal Friday night, while almost-as-lowly Philadelphia came from behind to knock off the Cubs 7-5. That left the front-running Cubs and the Mets, who resume their crucial showdown in Chicago Monday, separated by four games in the National League East.

Bonds, meanwhile, singled in two runs in the 10th inning—after keying a tying ninth-inning rally—as San Francisco dropped Los Angeles out of first in the West with a 6-4 triumph.

Atlanta, which rallied for three runs in the last inning to beat San Diego 6-3, took over the top spot, one-half game ahead of the Dodgers.

St. Louis stopped Pittsburgh 6-1 and Houston trounced Cincinnati 13-2 in other NL games.

The Expos, who had a four-game losing streak and the worst record of any NL team, assaulted the Mets with a 15-hit attack, including a double and two singles by pitcher Mike Wegener, good for four RBIs.

Wegener, a 22-year-old rookie, won his fourth in 11 decisions, but needed late help from Dick Radatz.

He was backed by Bobby Wine's two-run homer, his first of the year; Gary Sutherland's two-RBI double, and Mack Jones' 15th homer, a solo job. Ron Brand also contributed three hits and scored three times.

The Cubs grabbed a 5-3 lead with a pair of runs in the eighth, but Philadelphia came right back in the ninth on homers by Ron Stone and Johnny Briggs and Tony Taylor's run-scoring single.

Briggs slammed his eighth of the year, and second of the game, to lead off the inning before Stone hit his first of the season.

Singles by Mike Ryan, pinch hitter Dave Watkins and Taylor then produced the eighth loss in 12 games for the sagging Cubs.

Bonds, who hit his winning two-out single to center after a walk, Hal Lanier's single and another walk, contributed a double and scored one run when the Giants came up with two to tie it 4-4 in the ninth.

Willie Davis' two-run single and Wes Parker's RBI single had staked Los Angeles to a 4-2 lead in the seventh before Bonds helped the Giants to their 11th victory in 14 games. It moved them into third place, two games back of the Braves.

Pinch-hitter Bob Aspromonte singled in two runs and Felipe Alou singled in one in the ninth as Atlanta handed San Diego its fifth straight loss.

The Padres took an early 2-0 lead, but the Braves came back in the third with three runs on singles by Alou, Felix Millan and Clete Bower and Rico Carty's two-run double.

However, San Diego tied it in the third when Larry Stahl tripled after Van Kelly singled.

Lou Brock and Vada Pinson each drove in two runs in a five-run seventh that carried St. Louis past Pittsburgh for its seventh victory in eight games.

Houston exploded for nine runs in the sixth—most ever scored in one inning by the Astros—in halting Cincinnati's five-game victory streak. Denis Menke led the way with a double and a triple for four RBIs, while Jim Wynn had three singles and Doug Rader hit his sixth homer.

Rumors Circulate Namath Will Show Up For Training

By SHEILA MORAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Will he or won't he? That's the question guzzling around—again—in pro football circles today about Joe Namath and his career with the New York Jets.

But hold on, breathless fans. You'll probably have an answer before sunset Sunday. That's when the super quarterback is supposed to report to the Jets' training camp at Hempstead, N.Y.

If he does show up, he probably won't play because Commissioner Pete Rozelle is likely to suspend him before he can lace up his celebrated white shoes.

For the benefit of anyone who's been in hibernation for the past month, Namath would be suspended because Rozelle has said a million times if he's said it once that the 26-year-old folk hero has to give up his interest in a New York night spot if he wants to play football because the restaurant's clientele includes undesirables.

Jets' president Phil Iselin said Friday he didn't know anything about the latest reports that Namath had changed his mind and will show up at camp Sunday. Neither did a spokesman for Rozelle. Neither did Coach Weeb Ewbank.

"He'll be welcome," Iselin said.

"There's no change in the situation at all," said the commissioner's spokesman. "He's still retired. We've had no indication he's changed his mind."

The man in question—Namath, of course—was unavailable for comment in Corona, Calif., where he's winding up work on a movie. He was reported to have checked out of the motel where he was staying.

In other pro football news, the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League, who would like to settle their contractual problems with O. J. Simpson, have another headache. It seems they're having problems with a projected $50 million domed stadium.

Owner Ralph Wilson is unhappily with the prospects of having to deal with a private management group for use of the stadium, and said so in a letter to the Erie County executives. Wilson said he wants to deal with Erie County and not the private firm, which wants to operate the stadium under a lease from the county.

In major signings, the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League said they've signed their No. 2 draft choice, flanker Gene Washington of Stanford. Washington said he signed a three-year pact and added he's very happy with it.

Cincinnati Reds Humiliated By Hot Houston Astros, 13-2

HOUSTON (AP)—If the Cincinnati Reds only could have skipped the sixth inning Friday night. That way, they would have had to absorb only a loss.

As it was, Houston humiliated them with a 13-2 count. The Astros chalked nine runs in the sixth inning, the most they've ever scored in a single inning.

It broke a five-game winning streak of the Reds.

Dave Bristol, Cincinnati skipper, skipped a few innings, however. He was ejected at the end of the fourth inning for bumping Umpire Augie Donatelli.

The whole thing started as Jim Maloney, the Reds' starter, was returning to the dugout. Donatelli approached him and complained about a foreign substance on Maloney's hand. This riled Bristol and he got the heave-ho for the fourth time this year. A folding chair and lid off the equipment trunk were tossed out later onto the field from the Reds' dugout.

With Maloney opposing Astro starter Don Wilson, the game initially looked promising. The two pitched back-to-back no-hitters at Cincinnati earlier this season.

Maloney took his second loss in five decisions and Wilson,

10-7, was hit twice by pitches along with his victory—once by Maloney and once by reliever Pedro Ramos.

"I think we just started putting everything together," said Astro Denis Menke who batted out a double and a triple and four RBIs.

Continuing to explain how he felt the Astros have awakened, he said, "We started getting a hit with a man on—which we hadn't been doing before. This is one ball club that didn't quit."

Sharing batting honors with him were Jimmy Wynn with three singles and Doug Rader got his sixth homer of the season.

Rader started the big sixth inning with a walk and Wilson was hit by a pitch for the second time. Sandy Valdespino singled for one run and Joe Morgan followed with another single for another. Then Wynn's third hit brought two more across.

Two walks loaded the bases and Menke tripled for three runs. Singles by John Edwards and Valdespino brought two more in.

Houston went on to finish out their 14-hit attack compared to six for the Reds.

Books Donated To Library

A gift of ten books on horticulture, conservation and flower arranging has been made to the Pickaway County Public Library in memory of Mrs. George Huskey.

Funds to purchase the books were given by friends, formerly of Circleville, now residing in Luxembourg, naming the Pickaway County Garden Club to make the presentation as Mrs. Huskey was a member of the club.

Selection of the books was made by Mrs. John Eshelman. Some have been received and others will soon be available to the public. The books are "Cactus Guide" by Cutak, "Field Guide To Wild Flowers" by Peterson, "Holiday Flower Arranging" by Cyphers, "How To Plan And Plant Your Own Property" by A. B. Ircys, "The Junior Garden Club Handbook" by the National Council, "To Those Who See" by Gwen Erosic, "Flower Arrangement Designs For Today" by Wilson, "Weathered Wood With Flowers" by Knight, "Flowers And Furniture In America's Historic Homes" by Finch, and "Flowers and Symbols For The Christian Year" by Mullins.

Church Circle Has Program On Bolivia

Mrs. Arthur Bowman discussed the need of Christian education in Bolivia during the Thursday evening meeting of Circle 4 of the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church.

The meeting, held in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Crabtree, 511 Mowrer Road, was presided over by Mrs. LeRoy Thomas, leader. She read "My Daily Prayer" and Mrs. Crabtree presented prayer.

It was announced that the projects for the bazaar at the Pumpkin Show are being completed.

Secretary of spiritual life, Miss Lucille Kirkwood, urged using the prayer calendars. She requested prayer for the Camp Meeting and Youth Night when Rex Kern will be the speaker.

Mrs. Bowman told of a young missionary minister in Bolivia and by tape presented an account of his problems and ways he is trying to solve them. He said that they gathered together on Monday and scattered to carry to others on Sunday what they had learned.

Members sang "Lord Speak To Me" and closed the session with prayer.

Refreshments were served to the 12 members present by the hostess. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Clara DeLong, 118 Seyfert Ave., with Mrs. Montford Kirkwood Jr. as leader.

Dear Abby: Mom's Family Doesn't Fit In?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our son just came home from Vietnam and announced his engagement to a girl he went with before he went away. She comes from high society people.

Her mother asked me for a list of people on our side we wanted invited to the wedding. My problem is we have a lot of relatives we never see except at weddings and funerals and some of them wouldn't fit in very well with such high-class folks. Also, this is going to be a dress-up type church wedding, and I hate to put some of them on the spot to spend all that money getting dressed up just for that one day.

Is there some way I can invite those who can afford it and will fit in, and leave the others out? I hate to hurt any feelings.

SAN ANTONIO
DEAR SAN: Invite them all, and those who want to come will find a way to cut the mustard. Everyone has some relatives who won't "fit in." But don't worry, there will be plenty on the other side who won't fit in either, and they'll fit nicely with your misfits.

DEAR ABBY: I am 11 years old and I am ashamed of my mother. She tells the biggest lies, and she gossips a lot on the telephone. She will talk to one lady and pretend to be her best friend, when she is really her worst enemy. How can a person be so two-faced and evil and then tell me if I tell a lie God will punish me?

CHARLOTTE, N.C.
DEAR CHARLOTTE: Do as your mother SAYS, not as she does. Honey. Perhaps your mother will read this and realize that while "example" is not the only teacher, it is one of the most powerful.

DEAR ABBY: I have been asked to be a bridesmaid and am very excited about it. But I am also worried. You see, I want very much for my boyfriend to be invited to this wedding, and so far my girlfriend (the bride) hasn't said anything about it.

The invitations haven't gone out as yet so I don't know whether she plans to invite my boyfriend or not, but I am praying she is.

Is there some subtle way I can find out? And if she isn't planning on having my boyfriend, how can I get him invited without seeming bold?

BRIDESMAID
DEAR BRIDESMAID: A bride asks her closest friends to be her bridesmaids, and obviously you are one of hers, so come right out and TELL her that you hope she doesn't overlook your friend.

DEAR ABBY: My husband was married briefly before he married me. I understand he was very much in love with his first wife who left him for another man.

We married after a short courtship and now we have one child. I love him with all my heart, and I know he loves me, but he insists on doing something that is eating away at my heart.

Whenever we meet new friends, he always finds a way to mention to them that he was married before. Why does he do this? Is he proud of the fact? It was such a short marriage, and they had no children. I don't see why it is necessary to even bring it up.

If you can explain why he does this, you will be helping me tremendously. Thank you.

HURT
DEAR HURT: Only your husband can answer that question. Ask him. And while you are on the subject ask him for one small favor. To keep quiet about it in the future.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "UPSET AND DISGUSTED" IN BROWNSVILLE, TEXAS: Perhaps your "reliable" sources are not as reliable as you think they are. Don't make any judgments until you have talked with your father. Ask your mother if it is true that a woman telephoned her to inquire as to why she divorced your father. You could be "upset and disgusted" for nothing.

Spock Says He'll Continue Antiwar Work

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Benjamin Spock says he will work harder for an end to the Vietnam war now that an appeals court has overturned his conviction on charges of conspiring to counsel young men to avoid the draft.

"I feel pleased personally," the author-pediatrician said, "but I'm going to redouble my antiwar work. It seems to me absolutely tragic that young Americans will continue to die in Vietnam for an indefinite period."

In a 52-page decision Friday, the 1st U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ordered acquittals for Spock and Michael Ferber of Boston, a Harvard graduate student, on grounds that there was insufficient evidence of criminal conspiracy to warrant their convictions in a 1968 trial.

The court ordered new trials for two other men convicted with them—the Rev. William Sloane Coffin Jr., chaplain at Yale University, and Mitchell Goodman of Temple, Maine, an author and teacher. It said their rights were prejudiced when Judge Francis J. W. Ford of U.S. District Court in Boston posed 10 questions that he instructed the jury to answer in returning a verdict.

In Washington, a spokesman said the Justice Department would not comment until it could fully review the ruling. The office of the U.S. attorney for Massachusetts was similarly noncommittal.

But John Wall, the assistant U.S. attorney who was chief prosecutor of the case, disagreed with the appeals court's sufficiency of evidence finding. "There damn well was plenty of proof," he said. Wall, now an assistant Massachusetts attorney general, said he hoped the government would appeal the finding. But he added that the Justice Department has not appealed a sufficiency of evidence conviction reversal "in the past 20 years."

Germ-Free Mice To Get Exposure

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Germ-free mice will be exposed to materials returned from the moon's surface during post-Apollo 11 tests at the Manned Spacecraft Center Lunar Receiving Laboratory.

The tests will examine any abnormal changes in the mice over the 21-day period of exposure.

Eliminate Gun In 2 Slayings

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Ballistic tests have failed to show a link in the shooting death of University of Michigan graduate student Margaret Phillips and that of two other coeds, authorities said Friday.

Tests on a .22-caliber semiautomatic weapon recovered from the Huron River proved positively it was the weapon used to slay Miss Phillips a week ago, Washtenaw County Prosecutor William F. Delhey said.

The weapon was definitely eliminated Friday in the shooting deaths of two other Michigan coeds, Jane Mixer and Alice E. Kalom this year, he said. Four other young women have been slain—but not with a gun—in the area within two years.

Ernest Bishop Jr., 28, an ex-convict, has been ordered to stand trial on first-degree murder charges in Miss Phillips' death.

Cincinnati Reds Humiliated By Hot Houston Astros, 13-2

HOUSTON (AP) — If the Cincinnati Reds only could have skipped the sixth inning Friday night. That way, they would have had to absorb only a loss. As it was, Houston humiliated them with a 13-2 count. The Astros chalked nine runs in the sixth inning, the most they've ever scored in a single inning. It broke a five-game winning streak of the Reds.

Dave Bristol, Cincinnati skipper, skipped a few innings, however. He was ejected at the end of the fourth inning for bumping umpire Augie Donatelli.

The whole thing started as Jim Maloney, the Reds' starter, was returning to the dugout. Donatelli approached him and complained about a foreign substance on Maloney's hand. This riled Bristol and he got the heave-ho for the fourth time this year. A folding chair and lid off the equipment trunk were tossed out later onto the field from the Reds' dugout.

With Maloney opposing Astro starter Don Wilson, the game initially looked promising. The two pitched back-to-back no-hitters at Cincinnati earlier this season.

Maloney took his second loss in five decisions and Wilson,

10-7, was hit twice by pitches along with his victory — once by Maloney and once by reliever Pedro Ramos.

"I think we just started putting everything together," said Astro Denis Menke who banged out a double and a triple and four RBIs.

Continuing to explain how he felt the Astros have awakened, he said, "We started getting a hit with a man on — which we hadn't been doing before. This is one ball club that didn't quit."

Sharing batting honors with him were Jimmy Wynn with three singles and Doug Rader got his sixth homer of the season.

Rader started the big sixth inning with a walk and Wilson was hit by a pitch for the second time. Sandy Valdespino singled for one run and Joe Morgan followed with another single for another. Then Wynn's third hit brought two more across.

Two walks loaded the bases and Menke tripled for three runs. Singles by John Edwards and Valdespino brought two more in.

Houston went on to finish out their 14-hit attack compared to six for the Reds.

Washed Out Youth Games Rescheduled

Games scheduled Friday night in the Circleville Youth Baseball program have been rescheduled due to rainy weather.

Circleville Oil will play Blue Ribbon Dairy in Little League minor league. Wednesday, Fairgrounds diamond 1, 6 p.m.; Lindsey vs Kiwanis, Babe Ruth, Wednesday, 6 p.m., Fairgrounds diamond 2; Savings Bank will play Third National Bank in Pony League, Saturday, July 19, 10 a.m. on the Ted Lewis softball diamond.

Doubles Pace Washington's 2-1 Victory

A hit-batsman and a pair of doubles provided Steve Marshall with all the support he needed as Washington squeezed Pickaway 2-1 Friday in Tri County Little League major action.

Marshall has won five straight games in leading Washington to a perfect 7-0 mark for the year. Friday he fanned nine and allowed five hits.

Washington scored both runs in the third inning. Scott Weaver reached first base when he was hit by a pitched ball. Scott Allen's double advanced him to third base and Willie Clifton's double scored both boys.

Scott Pontious suffered the loss for Pickaway, allowing only four hits and fanning nine batters.

Manson knocked in the lone Pickaway run with a double.

His Highness became the first two-year-old horse to win more than $100,000 in one season. Most of his 1891 earnings of $106,900 came when he won $61,675 in the Futurity.

Lowly Montreal Bombs Stunned Mets, 11-4

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
The New York Mets and the Chicago Cubs started a brief breather from each other ... and wound up gasping.

The Los Angeles Dodgers ran into Bobby Bonds ... and wound up second.

The Mets, who took two of three games from the Cubs in New York this week, were stunned 11-4 by lowly Montreal Friday night, while almost-as-lowly Philadelphia came from behind to knock off the Cubs 7-5.

That left the front-running Cubs and the Mets, who resume their crucial showdown in Chicago Monday, separated by four games in the National League East.

Bonds, meanwhile, singled in two runs in the 10th inning — after keying a tying ninth-inning rally — as San Francisco dropped Los Angeles out of first in the West with a 6-4 triumph.

Atlanta, which rallied for three runs in the last inning to beat San Diego 6-3, took over the top spot, one-half game ahead of the Dodgers.

St. Louis stopped Pittsburgh 6-1 and Houston trounced Cincinnati 13-2 in other NL games.

The Expos, who had a four-game losing streak and the worst record of any NL team, assaulted the Mets with a 15-hit attack, including a double and two singles by pitcher Mike Wegener, good for four RBIs.

Wegener, a 22-year-old rookie, won his fourth in 11 decisions, but needed late help from Dick Radatz.

He was backed by Bobby Wine's two-run homer, his first of the year; Gary Sutherland's two-RBI double, and Mack Jones' 15th homer, a solo job. Ron Brand also contributed three hits and scored three times.

The Cubs grabbed a 5-3 lead with a pair of runs in the eighth, but Philadelphia came right back in the ninth on homers by Ron Stone and Johnny Briggs and Tony Taylor's run-scoring single.

Briggs slammed his eighth of the year, and second of the game, to lead off the inning before Stone hit his first of the season.

Singles by Mike Ryan, pinch hitter Dave Watkins and Taylor then produced the eighth loss in 12 games for the sagging Cubs.

Bonds, who hit his winning two-out single to center after a walk, Hal Lanier's single and another walk, contributed a double and scored one run when the Giants came up with two to tie it 4-4 in the ninth.

Willie Davis' two-run single and Wes Parker's RBI single had staked Los Angeles to a 4-2 lead in the seventh before Bonds helped the Giants to their 11th victory in 14 games. It moved them into third place, two games back from the Braves.

Pinch-hitter Bob Aspromonte singled in two runs and Felipe Alou singled in one in the ninth as Atlanta handed San Diego its fifth straight loss.

The Padres took an early 2-0 lead, but the Braves came back in the third with three runs on singles by Alou, Felix Millan and Cleto Bover and Rico Carty's two-run double.

However, San Diego tied it in the third when Larry Stahl tripled after Van Kelly singled.

Lou Brock and Vada Pinson each drove in two runs in a five-run seventh that carried St. Louis past Pittsburgh for its seventh victory in eight games.

Houston exploded for nine runs in the sixth — most ever scored in one inning by the Astros — in halting Cincinnati's five-game victory streak.

Denis Menke led the way with a double and a triple for four RBIs, while Jim Wynn had three singles and Doug Rader hit his sixth homer.

Rumors Circulate Namath Will Show Up For Training

By SHEILA MORAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Will he or won't he?

That's the question buzzing around — again — in pro football circles today about Joe Namath and his career with the New York Jets.

But hold on, breathless fans, you'll probably have an answer before sunset Sunday. That's when the super quarterback is supposed to report to the Jets' training camp at Hempstead, N.Y.

If he does show up, he probably won't play because Commissioner Pete Rozelle is likely to suspend him before he can lace up his celebrated white shoes.

For the benefit of anyone who's been in hibernation for the past month, Namath would be suspended because Rozelle has said a million times if he's said it once that the 26-year-old folk hero has to give up his interest in a New York night spot if he wants to play football because the restaurant's clientele includes undesirable.

Jets' president Phil Ilesin said Friday he didn't know anything about the latest reports that Namath had changed his mind and will show up at camp Sunday. Neither did a spokesman for Rozelle. Neither did Coach Weeb Ewbank.

"He'll be welcome," Ilesin said.

"There's no change in the situation at all," said the commissioner's spokesman. "He's still retired. We've had no indication he's changed his mind."

The man in question — Namath, of course — was unavailable for comment in Corona, Calif., where he's winding up work on a movie. He was reported to have checked out of the motel where he was staying.

In other pro football news, the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League, who would like to settle their contractual problems with O. J. Simpson, have another headache. It seems they're having problems with a projected $50 million domed stadium.

Owner Ralph Wilson is unhappy with the prospects of having to deal with a private management group for use of the stadium, and said so in a letter to

Ohio Fishing Outlook Fair To Good

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—As expected, streams in northern Ohio still are muddy from last weekend's big storm, but persistent anglers are making some good catches.

Some streams are beginning to clear and the outlook for the weekend remains from fair to very good.

Judge Refuses To Bar Merger With Goodrich

CHICAGO (AP)—U. S. District Court Judge Hubert L. Will Friday denied a temporary injunction to prevent Northwest Industries from acquiring the D. F. Goodrich Co.

The big rubber manufacturer has been resisting Northwest's takeover bid.

The judge's decision came on a Department of Justice request for a preliminary injunction in an antitrust suit filed May 23 which would have prevented Northwest from making an exchange offer effective.

In rejecting the department's motion, Judge Will gave an 89-page opinion in which he observed that during the three-week court hearing there was no showing that the government would be successful in proving the acquisition would have an adverse effect on competition.

Wildlife said channel catfish are being taken in "excellent" numbers on all reefs, Catawba Cliff, Port Clinton Pier, Sandusky Bay Bridge and near the shoreline of Bass Island. White bass fishing is still good at Niagara, Toussaint and Crib Reef and near the mouth of Sandusky Bay. Yellow perch fishing is good at Sandusky Bay fog horn, Mouse Island, Marblehead light-house and in the deeper water off Kelley's Island.

In Central Ohio, Richwood Lake is producing catfish and bluegills, Kiser Lake is high, muddy and rough but catfish are being taken. Indian Lake has water running over the spillway with catches of catfish, crappies, bass and a few walleye being taken.

Streams are generally slightly above normal and roily in the western portion of the northwestern Ohio district. The storm area is far above normal and turbid. But, the outlook at Clear Fork Reservoir is reported good, that at Charles Mill and Pleasant Hill Reservoirs fair. Good catches of channel catfish and fresh water drum are reported in the Maumee River and Sandusky River is producing catfish, crappies and some smallmouth and rock bass

Many reservoirs and streams in northeastern Ohio are beginning to clear with all types of fish being taken in the lakes and reservoirs. The outlook for the weekend is reported very good at Lake Milton and good at Berlin Reservoir. Muskies are reported hitting at Mogadore Reservoir.

Lakes in southeastern Ohio are reported mostly clear and normal with very good muskie fishing along with bass, bluegill taking artificial bait. Best fishing at a Piedmont Lake is in the inlets. Dillon Reservoir is clear to roily with outlook fair.

In southwestern Ohio, Lake St. Marys is high and roily with weekend outlook fair. Rocky Fork Lake is clear and normal with muskies and walleye being taken by trolling in deep water. Acton, Cowan and Stonelick Lakes report successful fishing.

The fastest harness mile ever driven by a female was the 1:58
1/2 time trial Alma Sheppard
scooted with trotter Dean
Hanover in 1937 at Lexington,
Ky. Miss Sheppard was 11 years old.

Irwin and Beard each had a second-round 67. Sikes a 69.

Hugh Inggs, a South African who has been on the tour only five weeks, matched the record for the 6,913-yard, par-71 Brae-mar Golf Club course with a 63 and was alone at 137.

Stockton, a five-year-old veteran, took note of Sikes' comment that a tournament should not be held the same date as the British Open, as this one is.

"I don't think I can agree," Stockton said. "I won at Milwaukee last year the same date as the British Open and am in good shape in this one."

But he had to whip some putting trouble to get in good shape.

"I'd been playing badly for a month and a half," he said. "I was putting the worst in my life.
It was just horrible. But I knew it was just a matter of time before it would come around."

Stockton, who took over the top spot in the $100,000 Minnesota Golf Classic Friday with a four-under-par 67 for 135, has collected $48,683 this year. But he hasn't won a tournament.

"I'd a lot rather have $15,000 and have won a tournament," he said.

Scholar Sees Shocks Ahead For Churches

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Out of the murkiness of the present commotion and changes in the churches, a Protestant scholar has taken a long look at the eventual results of it all—and he sees some shockers ahead.

Among them: The disappearance of sermons and Sunday morning church services; growing interest in Jesus and less in the mystery of God; broad church consolidations; multiple memberships by some believers in more than one church.

The Rev. Dr. Roland W. Tapp, of Philadelphia, a United Presbyterian specialist in religious education, says "part of the upheaval now going on in the churches is temporary, but much of it will have permanent effects."

Recently on a three-month research assignment for analysis and planning, Dr. Tapp said in an interview that indications are that the organizational structures of churches "are not going to make it" to the end of the century.

"The long-range prospects are good for essential Judeo-Christianity, but not for the institutions," he said.

Dr. Tapp, a one-time missionary, California pastor and World War II bomber pilot, is a former professor of psychology and philosophy of religion at Kentucky's Center College and of Biblical languages at San Francisco Theological Seminary.

He offered his lively preview of the future church at a recent gathering of religious publishers.

Items on the forecast included:

—A re-enactment of the fundamentalist-liberal fight of 60 years ago . . . It already has resulted in a marked polarization of the church at all levels . . . The split may become irreparable.

—With Protestants and Roman Catholics "no longer in real dispute" over major doctrines, they will move increasingly toward "merger at practical levels"—between fundamental Protestants and fundamental Catholics, and between liberal Protestants and liberal Catholics.

—Most institutional members will be 45 years old, and up. "There will be a steady decrease in total membership, fewer youths will join the church."

—On the other hand, there will be "increasing interest in religion and Christianity" among college students and young adults but "they will continue to avoid the institutional church."

—Christian teachers will see themselves "more as fellow-seekers" rather than "transmitters of a heritage." They "will be more interested in Jesus and less in God" even though this seems a "flat contradiction in Biblical terms."

—The Consultation on Church Union will bring unification of major Protestant denominations amid "great wailing and gnashing of teeth," but the new connective church "will be no more of a monolith than it is now."

—Sermons are out. And so is the Sunday morning worship service at 11 o'clock. The death rattle will be long and loud and gruesome."

—The main theological shift will be away from the doctrine of divine transcendence toward a "doctrine of pantheism," which holds that "God is in everything," in contrast from pantheism, which says "God is everything."

—Racial integration "will be a fact within the churches . . . It already is a workable everyday fact at headquarters levels."

—Church property, valued to- tally at $80 billion, will go on tax rolls. "In a pluralistic society with Christians rapidly becoming a minority, this kind of tax-exempt wealth simply cannot be tolerated. It won't be."

Report Address

Change To Social Security Office

Residents of Ross, Pickaway, Vinton, Pike, Highland, and Fayette counties who are receiving monthly social security checks, are reminded by Robert M. Martin, social security manager in Chillicothe, to report directly to that office any change of address or other events affecting continued receipt of their checks.

Reports may be made by mail (you may use the back of your check envelope for this), phone, or in person. Appropriate report forms are available at the Chillicothe office, located at 606 Central Center, in Chillicothe, and at many post offices.

Martin said this reporting method enable the district office to take advantage of the increased capacity of its high speed communications circuits to transmit information to record centers. Until recently, social security beneficiaries were encouraged to notify the Social Security Administration about the occurrence of these events by mailing pre-addressed postcard forms to a record center.

Events that affect receipt of monthly social security checks, in addition to address changes, are starting or stopping work (employment), marriage, or remarriage, in some instances, divorce, and death.

Ohio Fishing Outlook Fair To Good

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—As expected, streams in northern Ohio still are muddy from last weekend's big storm, but persistent anglers are making some good catches.

Some streams are beginning to clear and the outlook for the weekend remains from fair to very good.

For Lake Erie, the Division of Wildlife said channel catfish are being taken in "excellent" numbers on all reefs, Catawba Cliff, Port Clinton Pier, Sandusky Bay Bridge and near the shoreline of Bass Island. White bass fishing is still good at Niagara, Tossiant and Crib Reef and near the mouth of Sandusky Bay. Yellow perch fishing is good at Sandusky Bay fog horn, Mouse Island, Marblehead light-house and in the deeper water off Kelley's Island.

In Central Ohio, Richwood Lake is producing catfish and bluegills, Kiser Lake is high, muddy and rough but catfish are being taken. Indian Lake has water running over the spillway with catches of catfish, crappies, bass and a few walleye being taken.

Streams are generally slightly above normal and roily in the western portion of the northwestern Ohio district. The storm area is far above normal and turbid. But, the outlook at Clear Fork Reservoir is reported good, that at Charles Mill and Pleasant Hill Reservoirs fair. Good catches of channel catfish and fresh water drum are reported in the Maumee River and Sandusky River is producing catfish, crappies and some smallmouth and rock bass

Judge Refuses To Bar Merger With Goodrich
CHICAGO (AP) — U. S. District Court Judge Hubert L. Will Friday denied a temporary injunction to prevent Northwest Industries from acquiring the B. F. Goodrich Co.

The big rubber manufacturer has been resisting Northwest's takeover bid.

The judge's decision came on a Department of Justice request for a preliminary injunction in an antitrust suit filed May 23 which would have prevented Northwest from making an exchange offer effective.

In rejecting the department's motion, Judge Will gave an 89-page opinion in which he observed that during the three-week court hearing there was no showing that the government would be successful in proving the acquisition would have an adverse effect on competition.

Scholar Sees Shocks Ahead For Churches

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Out of the murkiness of the present commotion and changes in the churches, a Protestant scholar has taken a long look at the eventual results of it all—and he sees some shockers ahead.

Among them: The disappearance of sermons and Sunday morning church services; growing interest in Jesus and less in the mystery of God; broad church consolidations; multiple memberships by some believers in more than one church.

The Rev. Dr. Roland W. Tapp, of Philadelphia, a United Presbyterian specialist in religious education, says "part of the upheaval now going on in the churches is temporary, but much of it will have permanent effects."

Recently on a three-month research assignment for analysis and planning, Dr. Tapp said in an interview that indications are that the organizational structures of churches "are not going to make it" to the end of the century.
